'Halt Terrorism!' Arabs Warn British After Blast

JUDGE 'FREES' LOUDONVILLE KNIFE SLAYER

Suspends Whitehead Sentence After Guilty Plea, Cites Self Defense Motive.

ASHLAND — Willard Whitehead, 40, pleaded guilty today to an indictment charging him with manslaughter in the July 9 knife slaying of Carl Norris, a fellow Pennsylvania railway employe at Loudonville.

Judge H. E. Culbertson in common pleas court heard the plea and promptly handed down a suspended sentence of one to 20 years.

In the surprise move Judge Culbertson said that extenuating circumstances had determined the suspension of sentence.

Explains Suspension.

He explained: First—the alleged manslaughter was not intentional but part of an all-day fight; second—the fatal stabbing was an act of self defense; and third—the defendant had gone to Loudonville Police Shief R. G. Schnittke for the warrant against Norris, indicating he was not planning any act.

Judge Culbertson placed Whitehead on two year's probation and instructed him to write periodic letters to the court

Whitehead has been held in Ashland county jail under $2,000 bond since his capture July 9 several hours after Norris' death. Norris died enroute to Mansfield General hospital from loss of blood from being knifed by Whitehead following an all-day quarrel over a radio.

He was indicted for manslaughter Monday, July 15, by the Ashland county grand jury and July 30, and 31 had been set as the date for arraignment of the case.

According to police and Ashland County Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening, who filed the charge against Whitehead, Whitehead and Norris, both Kentuckians, employed as section hands by the railroad, became involved in a dispute over a missing radio and the possession of a bunk in one of the cars.

Whitehead related the events leading up to the fatal shooting at a hearing in the mayor's office the day after the incident.

"We were all drinking. I went in town and got some whisky and three quarts of wine for the boys. But I wasn't drunk I knew what I was doing all the time—just as much as I know now," the former miner said.

Tells His Story.

The altercation over the radio began after Whitehead was accused of knowing the hiding place of the disputed article, for which he had been paid $10 to find.

The fight then moved outside the bunk cars. Whitehead said. "Norris met me and hit me on the head with something and started hitting me with his fists. He called to the rest of the fellows that he had me down and to come and "get me'."

It was then the knifing occurred, Whitehead said.

Chinese Release 7 U. S. Marines

PEIPING —(AP)— Chinese government sources said today that seven U. S. marines, kidnaped July 13 near Chinwangtao, had been released by Chinese Communists and turned over to a special team from executive headquarters. There was no immediate confirmation of the report from marine headquarters.

A government spokesman said the Communists had demanded withdrawal of American forces from China as a condition for the marines' release, but had agreed to discuss the question later.

Notice

Mansfield draft board officials reported today that many 18-year-old youths are failing to register for selective service.

All boys are required to register with their draft boards on their 18th birthday. If that date falls on a holiday they must register on the following day.

Although youths are not inducted until they are 19, they are required ot carry classification cards from their draft boards as soon as they become 18.

Ethel's Still In The Family

RENO, Nev.—(INS)—The saga of the twin Smith brothers (both clean-shaven) in Reno's divorce court completed a cycle today with the remarriage of Elmer J. Smith of Tulare, Cal., and his former wife, Ethel.

The Smiths, who solemnized their first marriage in Hollywood, originally were entered on Reno's legal records when Ethel won a divorce from Elmer on March 5, 1945, on grounds of cruelty and then married his twin brother, Henry V. Smith.

Henry was not in court yesterday when Ethel received her divorce—again on grounds of cruelty—but Elmer was by her side and they were remarried.

WOULD EXTEND CITY SEWERS TO ALLOTMENTS

State, Local Officials Weigh Problem of Inadequate Sewage Facilities.

A long-range plan to expand Mansfield's sewers and sewage treatment facilities and to numerous allotments surrounding the city was discussed yesterday at a meeting here of local and state officials.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, who took part in the discussion with local and state health officers, said that expanding the facilities will be a "long, hard process."

He added, however, that "we have to realize that Mansfield has out-grown its present equipment and that someday surrounding allotments will become part of the city."

Vaughn said that a comprehensive study of the city's sewage treatment facilities made by a specially-hired sanitary engineer has shown the need for expanded treatment equipment.

He pointed out that the city's present plant, built some 12 years ago, was designed to serve the city adequately until about 1960.

"However, 12 years ago it couldn't be foreseen that a war would come along and increase our sewage treatment requirements," he said.

"Too, the added water supply to be provided by the new Clear Fork reservoir will increase our treatment both for home and industry," he said "Water that goes into home and factory must be treated. When you increase the supply you have to increase the treatment facilities," he pointed out.

"In addition, our population has increased much faster than could have been foreseen, new homes were built and more are going up daily. Besides, local industries have increased and are planning icreases in production capacity," he said.

Goes to Grave Today Instead Of to Altar

Today would have been the wedding day for Miss Clarabelle Corbin, 30, and William King, 20, both of Crestline. Instead, Miss Corbin's funeral is scheduled for 2 30 p. m. from the Church of God at Wharton, and King is reported still in a "serious" condition at Bucyrus hospital.

The couple were involved in a collision with a heavily laden steel truck Sunday night, near Bucyrus, which resulted in the instant death of Miss Corbin, and a punctured lung and crushed right arm to King. King's arm was amputated in Bucyrus hospital Monday morning.

Miss Corbin, who operated a beauty shop in Crestline with her sister, Mrs. Edwin Wagner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Corbin of Wharton.

Rev. Robert Fast will officiate at the final rites, and burial will be made in Wharton cemetery.

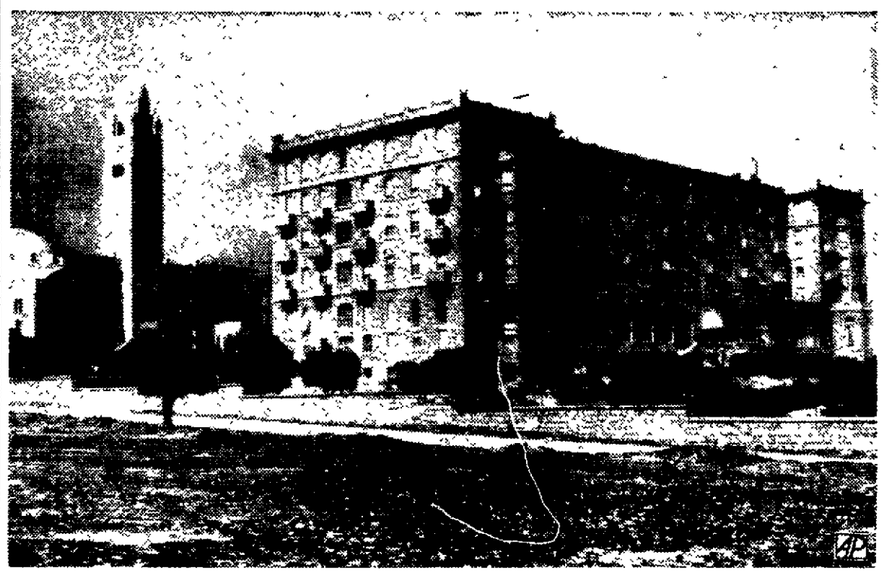
Terrorist Bombs Wreck Jerusalem Hotel



Jerusalem's King David hotel before death blast.

Wing of building reduced to rubble by explosion.

Before . . . and after. Terrorists bombed and shattered part of King David hotel in Jerusalem July 22, wrecking headquarters of the British army and Palestine government offices. Photos above show the hotel before and after the blast. The body of one man was blown clear across Julian's Way, hitting the YMCA building (lower photo, left). The bomb was planted in the La Regence night club (portion of building nearest camera) which is located under the British offices. (AP Wirephotos).

TOLL REACHES 156 MISSING, DEAD OR HURT

Palestine Tension Grows as Police Scour City in Hunt For Underground Leaders.

(Compiled from Wire Dispatches)

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Tension in Palestine, scene of a vast manhunt for extremists who bombed the King David hotel Monday, was heightened today by an Arab warning that if the British failed to halt terrorism the Arabs themselves would be forced to take a hand.

Officials now list 156 persons killed, wounded or missing from Monday's blast. Fifty-two bodies have been uncovered already and little hope is held out that 62 others listed as missing will be found alive. Another 42 persons are wounded, some seriously.

While rescue workers continued to dig through the debris of the hotel, British troops and Palestine police combed Jerusalem for leaders of the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi.

An announcement purportedly from that organization, received by the Associated Press last night, said that Irgun Zvai Leumi "soldiers" staged the bombing.

Question Result.

The question most frequently asked in the Holy Land was what effect the explosion would have on the admission of additional Jews to Palestine.

Egypt, Iraq and five other Arab countries asked the United Nations in New York take action to bring the British mandate under U.N. trusteeship.

The Arab warning to the British accused Attlee's administration of "being too reluctant to use its full forces to wipe out terrorism and protect Arabs in Palestine."

If terrorism continues, the statement issued by the Arab executive said, "Arabs will be forced to protect their sons and interests with their own resources."

Two More Jailed.

The arrest last night of two wounded Jews brought to 29 the number of Jewish suspects now being held by police investigating Monday's bombing. Earlier, two (Continued on Page 3)

PLEAD GUILTY IN OSR SLAYING

Nichols, Murton Calm During Arraignment; Yawn, Smile at Proceedings.

Two Mansfield Reformatory inmates charged with first degree murder in the knife killing of another inmate pleaded guilty to the charge today in municipal court and were held to the grand jury without bond.

The two, Howard Nichols, 20, and Louis Murton, 19, are under indictment for murdering 18-year-old Janvere Bruck. He was stabbed in a supper line at the reformatory last Thursday and died shortly after.

Nichols and Murton appeared calm when the murder charges against them were read. Both quickly and clearly answered "guilty." They then turned to whispering and watching other court procedure. Murton yawned, once, Nichols smiled.

County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, who filed the murder charges, said that both admit striking blows with knives. Lutz said that Nichols claimed Bruck stole some jewelry from him and Murton joined in the attack on Bruck.

Red Tape Bars Big Airliners From New Port

City Has One of Finest Airfields But Major Lines Can't Use It.

Mansfield has a $2,000,000 airport capable of handling the largest planes in existence, but not a single major airline can use the port today

Prospects are that the big planes won't be coming in regularly before winter or early spring, 1947, according to J. R. "Bud" Harrington, airport manager.

Fouled in governmental red tape are applications of the big airlines now eager to use the port.

The airport manager said today that applications to service the city have been routed into the Great Lakes area case now pending action of the Civil Aeronautics Authority's board.

NOTHING EXPECTED BEFORE NOVEMBER

"Within the next month a brief is expected to be issued on the case by CAA examiners," Harrington said "From there the case will be taken up by CAA officials in Washington and the final report is not expected before November."

"It's impossible to have air line service before the winter or possibly even early spring," he added.

Three major trunk lines seeking to service Mansfield are: United Air Lines, Trans-World Air Lines and the Eastern Air Lines. Eastern Air would establish service from Detroit to Florida through Mansfield and Cincinnati; TWA would service east and west on a New York run, and United Air Lines would service east and west from their New York run through Chicago.

While the green light on interstate service is still pending, Harrington said that intra-state service is operating without certification in a few localities. These are feeder services, which James M. Landis, chairman of the CAA board who appeared here for the dedication, said would get the first go-ahead signal to Mansfield.

BARES FATAL SHELL DEFECTS

General Says U. S. Soldiers Died From Premature Blast of Own Ammunition.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A story of American soldiers killed by their own defective mortar shells today capped the senate war investigating committee's inquiry into profits of munitions makers.

It was supplied by testimony from Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, and two leters from unidentified reserve officers. They agreed there were deaths among GI's in Europe due to premature explosion of 4.2-inch chemical mortar shells on the battle fronts.

Waitt said he did not know how many men died from defective shells, but estimated at least 10 or 12.

The war department, he said, had been unable to trace the defective shells to any particular manufacturer.

Telling the committee that he had "sweat blood" over the defect, Waitt expressed belief that the trouble was due to specifications and design

He acknowledged that it "might have been" due to defective manufacturing, but declared that "I don't think really it's possible to pin this thing on any manufacturer."

Replying to questions Waitt said Erie Basin Metal Products company was only one of a number of manufacturers of the shell.

Erie Basin was a member of the munitions group which members of the senate committee have come to call the Garsson Combine. Henry and Murray Garsson, brothers, were principal figures in it.

With Waitt's testimony, the committee temporarily recessed its hearings pending word from Rep. May (D-Ky) as to when he will testify. May did not comply with a committee summons to appear yesterday. He said he was too busy with legislative matters but hoped to appear soon.

TURKEY COUNTS VOTES

AGENCY PLANS TO USE JUNE 30 PRICE TAGS

Officials Banking on Swift Action By Senate, Truman on Revival Bill.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Obviously banking on imminent new legal life, OPA rushed plans today to slap a big segment of the American economy back under June 30 price ceilings, at least temporarily.

On rents, the agency has ready an order re-establishing the same controls which were in effect in each of 520 areas when the federal law lapsed at the end of last month.

Except on major food items and certain other products which in no event can be placed under ceilings again before August 20, OPA's plans to restore June 30 maximum prices apply pretty much across the board.

Officials emphasized that many of these ceilings would be temporary. Under the pending revival bill OPA is required to apply new standards which will require higher ceilings in many cases.

Bill Gives 30 Days.

But the bill gives OPA 30 days after enactment to make most of the stipulated changes. In the case of the Barkley amendment, which sets up a new base period for fixing ceilings of manufacturers, producers and processors, OPA need not act for 60 days after an industry committee petitions for a price adjustment.

In some cases, June 30 ceilings probably will be replaced quickly with temporary higher prices calculated under previous OPA standards. Price Administrator Paul Porter has indicated that this course will be followed, for example, on some building materials.

Top OPA officials still are uncertain how some provisions of the bill would be applied. But this is their preliminary analysis:

Uncontrolled Items.

Under no circumstances could ceilings be restored before August 20 on meat, dairy products, cottonseed, soybeans—or items made entirely or substantially from these commodities—and on grain and livestock and poultry feeds made from grain.

(Ceilings will be reestablished on food products made from grain, such as flour, bread and breakfast cereals.)

If an independent three-man decontrol board to be named by President Truman and confirmed by the senate has not ruled by August 20 whether the ceiling-free items should remain so or not, price controls automatically would be restored. OPA would fix the actual ceilings.

Cooler Air Mass Heading For Ohio, Says Weatherman.

Although temperatures in Mansfield this morning were slightly higher than yesterday, weathermen promised that cooler air was heading into Ohio today before another summer heat wave has any chance of developing.

Temperatupre at the OPS Longview station just before noon today was 84 degrees. According to readings taken at Hayesville yesterday, 82 degrees was high, with 65 as the 24-hour low.

Widely scattered showers, according to weather bureau forecasters, were expected in advance of somewhat lower temperatures. The prospects were for moderately cool conditions through Friday.

Municipal Workers Get Council Offer

CANTON —(AP)— Striking municipal service department workers met today to consider city council's action in endorsing their demands for a 10½ cent hourly wage increase.

After a three-hour session last night the city's legislative body adopted by an 11 to 2 vote a resolution calling for the increase for the rest of the year.

FLATLY REJECTS ATOMIC CONTROL

Gromyko Turns Down U. S. Proposal to Rule Out Veto Powers.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet representative to the United Nations' atomic energy commission, today flatly rejected the major United States proposals for control of atomic energy.

Gromyko, speaking at a session of Committee No. 2, specifically turned down the U. S proposals for setting up an atomic development authority and for ruling out the veto on atomic matters.

In making his statement, the Soviet representative made it clear that his government was rejecting "as a whole or any part" of the third memorandum submitted by Bernard M Baruch, U S delegate. This memorandum had summed up all principal points of the United States plan.

The controversial Palestine question was slated today for a place on the crowded agenda of the United Nations general assembly which meets in New York Sept. 3.

Arkady Sobolev, acting secretary-general, disclosed last night that Egypt and Iraq, acting in concert with five other Arab states, had asked assembly action to help bring the strife-torn British mandate under U. N. trusteeship.

FACE PULLMAN TIEUP

CHICAGO — (AP) — The nation faced the prospect of a tieup in Pullman service today with the announcement of a strike Aug. 7 by members of the Order of Railway Conductors. B. C. Johnson, vice president of the union, said the strike had been ordered against the Pullman company as a result of a dispute over application of wage increases awarded last spring.

Ships Rock Silently Awaiting Death Blow

All's In Readiness for World's First Underwater Atomic Explosion at Bikini Today.

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Off Bikini—(INS)—The Operation Crossroads task force swung into action today to complete final preparations for the world's first underwater atomic explosion (4:35 p. m., today, EST).

The complex movement was started at the word of Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy after suitable weather conditions were forecast.

The target array of eighty-seven ships rocked silently at their moorings in the lagoon while all personnel except a few key men were evacuated from the danger area.

The press ship Appalachian and other non-target vessels moved out of the lagoon at daybreak before the mysterious, canvas-shrouded atom bomb was set in its place at an undisclosed depth below the surface of the 180-foot deep lagoon.

Alcatraz Rioters On Trial Sept. 17

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— The trial of three federal convicts accused of slaying Guard William Miller during the May Alcatraz riot, was set today for Sept. 17.

The convicts, Sam Shockley, Miran "Tex" Thompson, and Clarence Carnes, all pleaded not guilty when they appeared before Judge Louis E. Goodman at their arraignment yesterday. Judge Goodman then set the date for the trial.

RUSH PORT CLEAN-UP FOR SUNDAY ARRIVALS

As the army's giant B-19 finally lifted its wheels from Mansfield's airport this morning, city trucks and workers were "swooping low" over the new field making 100-foot wide paper-picking "runs."

Three days after the finale of the airport dedication program, truckloads of paper — including hot-dog-less napkins, empty paper cups and programs—were still being hauled away.

According to Park Supt. Frank Burton, 15 truckloads of paper have already been picked up at the port. "And that didn't even make a dent into it," he declared.

"We picked up two truck-loads around each concession stand," he said. General clean-up procedure is to send two men with a truck to pick up all refuse within a 100-foot wide strip and then double back on another strip of the same width, Burton said.

Main aim is to get the port in shape for two All-Ohio plane tours which are to arrive at the field Sunday morning and after- (Continued on Page 3)

10 Die When Ship Sinks During Blow

KODIAK, Alaska —(INS)— Ten people were counted today as victims of a storm which sank the Cannery Tender Cougar northwest of Kodiak island. The coast guard said the only survivor is Harold Agar of Karluk, Alaska.

The 65-foot Cougar was on its way to Kodiak when it foundered in heavy seas. The captain, Glen Palmer of Tacoma, Wash., was among the victims. One woman and two men have not been identified.

EXPERTS STUDY 'RITA' BOMBER

Plane's Lone Survivor of its Type From Four Built During War.

WHIGHT FIELD — (INS) — Air materiel command experts at Wright Field are taking up where the Japs were so rudely interrupted.

U. S. army experts have begun tests of the only surviving Jap "Rita" bomber—last type designed by the Nips and one that was still in the testing stage when damage from AAF bombs halted experimentation.

The Japanese manufactured four Ritas. One was shot down. American planes found the other three on the testing ground. After the war ended, salvaged parts from two of those were used to make repairs on the ship now at Wright Field.

An aircraft carier brought the bomber to Newark, N. J. There it was assembled—by the "trial and error" method since no plans or drawings were available — and flown to Dayton by Col. Harold E. Watson of Patterson Field and Maj. William J. Webb of Lexington, Ky.

The Rita looks like a composite of three American planes. From the side, it resembles a B-26, from the front a B-29, and in size it compares to a B-17. It has four engines, each of which burns about 50 gallons of fuel an hour.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Westbrook Pegler . . .

NEW YORK—During the shooting war when the vaunted "no strike" pledge of the bloated unioneers was being honored in the breach at the rate of about 75 strikes, big and little, each week, many Americans were naive enough to think that when "the boys" came home they would, somehow, clean house and see to it that the officials of unions which had been responsible for these strikes were discredited and eliminated.

If it was true, as Paul McNutt so often said in those days, that every man-hour of work lost from production for war meant a corresponding delay in the winning of the war and a corresponding loss of life at the fronts, then it must follow that the thousands of violations of the "pledge," which never was a pledge but only a political utterance, actually cost many lives in battle. Many a fighting man now dragging a sick and battered body through life or fumbling, sightless, to train his fingers to a pitifully restricted number of tasks must owe his condition to the ruthlessness of men who called thousands of workers off their jobs, many of them against their will, for petty causes, or warned conscientious Americans to take it easy.

The most dramatic example of this sort of doing was revealed on Nov. 4, 1943, at a hearing before a sub-committee of the house committee on naval affairs investigating the failure of production in the plants of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation which was manufacturing planes for the navy. Brewster had failed horribly and the management aparently deserved some share of the blame.

The witness before the sub-committee on Nov. 4 called himself Thomas V. De Lorenzo and admitted that he had used "a half-dozen names" and that he was a liar and an imposter with a police record which, later, was enlarged by a conviction on a charge of assault. He said he had picked the name of Thomas Vincent De Lorenzo "out of a telephone book or a hat" because "it sounded nice." His original name had been Harry Posner.

Congressman Edward Hebert, of New Orleans, brought out the fact that under the "democracy" of the United Auto Workers' union, as practiced in Local 365, of which De Lorenzo was president, ten per cent of the membership constitutes a quorum and that six per cent of the whole membership could call a strike at a meeting attended by a bare quorum.

Mr. Hebert said: "You are engaged in war production and your 6,000 strike hours destroyed 33 planes of ours. When Captain Westervelt (of the navy) was on the stand, I tried to paint the picture to him to show where raids on production centers in Germany are for the purpose of curbing production and that those 33 planes which were not produced would have been the same as if the Luftwaffe had come over Philadelphia with you in the lead plane. He agreed with me that that was substantially correct. Not a German soldier's life was risked in destroying those 33 planes which you and your organization did. Did you ever make a statement like this: 'Our policy is not to win the war at any cost. The policy of our union is to win the war without sacrificing too much of the rights which we have at the present time'?"

"Did you ever make this statement: 'If I had brothers at the front who needed the ten or twelve planes that were sacrificed I would let them die'?" Mr. Hebert continued.

"I made that statement," said De Lorenzo who said this was his way of fighting fascism in the United States.

Illustrating the fallacy of the idea that "the boys" would take revenge on the unions or even oppose them in any effective organization, Walter P. Reuther, who was elected president of the United Auto Workers last March, was invited to address the recent convention of the American Veterans' Committee, Inc., in Des Moines.

The significant point is that the union movement, which betrayed all service men, causing the death and injury of many, and profiteered and racketeered throughout the war, has met them at the separation centers with open arms and cries of "brother" and now has moved into the political position of defender of their rights during their absence. And Mr. Reuther, who started the chain of explosions which set back reconversion so far that new automobiles are still a rarity and set in motion the inflation which has made so many veterans and others homeless, is invited to address a group of veterans under left-wing leadership consisting largely of professional propagandists and to abuse congress for conditions directly traceable to his own strike. He did this without the slightest challenge as to his union's conduct in the war or its responsibility for shortage and distress among discharged veterans today.

Hal Boyle . . .

(For Hal Boyle)

RICHMOND, Surrey—It's fine swan-upping weather in the Thames valley.

Up the turbid Thames, the King's men, and the men of the Worshipful company of Vintners and the Worshipful company of Dyers will travel in six rowing skiffs the next three weeks, just as they have once a year for five centuries, to divide the swans of England amongst them.

And when the sun sets, the riverside taverns will echo to the cheerful laughter of the hearty watermen who leave their jobs for these few weeks to follow the ancient custom of "swan-upping."

The little procession of beflagged rowing boats will go from Southwark to Oxford, marking those swans which belong to the Vintners or the Dyers, throwing the King's swans back into the river untouched.

"The King once owned all the swans in England," explained Fred Turk, the king's swankeeper who directs the "upping." He takes his two brothers with him. Richard as governor for the Vintner's company swans. Herbert for the Dyers'. Like so many ancient crafts in England, swan-upping is a family business.

But back in the reign of Edward IV, "there were a lot of wars, and well, you know wars take money," he said, refreshing himself with a tankard of ale at the famous "Waterman's Arms" at Richmond.

"The king borrowed money from the rich city companies. And in return they got a share of the swans, and can have swan pie at their banquets."

John Yallop, who has been the only amateur for the last 15 years, came up. He is an east end of London metal worker and swan-ups for fun not money. He wore the scarlet jersey and baret of the King's men.

"This is okay this year," he whispered confidentially, "we've got our bottle of whisky this year. Last year we couldn't get it. But we'll drink the king's health when we get to Windsor like we've always done."

He turned to a smiling boy in the green and white striped sweater and old fashioned nightcap-type sailor's knitted cap of the Dyers company. "And you'll see another fine tradition no doubt as the day goes along. We always duck the new boys in the river."

About six hundred adult birds, as well as all the cygnets, will be marked this year. And the Vintner's and the Dyers' company will be able to serve swan at their banquets if they wish.

CRASHED FLIER GIVEN EIGHT TRANSFUSIONS

Physician Reports Youth Had 11 Fractures, Given Good Chance of Recovery.

ASHLAND—Walter G. Bachmann, 21, critically injured in a plane crash west of here Sunday, was reported by an attending physician today to be "holding his own" after eight blood transfusions.

In addition to a broken arm and two fractured ankles disclosed following a preliminary examination, Dr. M. D. Shilling, the attending physician, said the young pilot had sustained eight other fractures and "considerable internal injury."

Bachmann is expected to recover, barring an unforeseen relapse, Dr. Shilling said. The youth, a former army pilot and Ashland college student, has received six plasma and two whole blood transfusions from friends and fellow airmen.

Dr. Shilling, who saw Bachmann crash while watching the plane he was piloting through field glasses, rushed Bachmann to Samaritan hospital following the accident.

The CAA has joined officials of Ashland airport and county sheriff's office in an investigation of the crash of the plane, an army surplus model rented by Bachmann from the airport.

ASK FUNDS FOR CHILDREN'S AID

Relief Officials Conferring With Commissioners on $7,000 Appeal.

Richland county relief officials were in session with the county commissioners at noon today in an effort to work out a plan to supplement the seriously depleted aid to dependent children fund.

A plan to transfer funds from the excise tax fund through the sanction of the Richland county common pleas court, was suggested by the relief officials.

This plan developed when the commissioners revealed that the approximately $26,000 which they had transferred to the aid to dependent children fund mostly from the county general fund, was all that could safely be removed from that fund under the existing two mill levy.

Relief officials said that they need $7,000 to permit them to meet needs for the rest of the year.

Mrs. Marion Brucker, district representative of the ADC who also oversees the relief departments and department of child welfare in several counties headed the list of seven other county relief officials which included:

Mrs. Jane Williams, secretary of the community chest; Mrs. Elmer Post, Rev. Albert A. Linder, and Mrs. David Kelly, Shelby, all members of the board of public welfare assistance;

William Johns, relief officer, Mrs. Marie Menchan, humane officer; Mrs. Ola Lowell, a worker in the department of public welfare and Kathryn McMichael, case supervisor of the department of public welfare.

All three commissioners were present at the meeting.

Hold Bristor Rites Friday

Funeral services for Miss Frances Bristor, a former Mansfield resident who died last Thursday in Los Angeles, Calif., will be conducted at 3 p. m. Friday from the Jones Memorial home by Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

The body of Miss Bristor will arrive here Thursday and will be taken to the Jones Memorial where friends may call Thursday afternoon and Friday.

Miss Bristor is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mabel Mosgrove of Oceanside, Calif., and several nieces and nephews. She was the sister of the late Fred Bristor, and of Mrs. Lucille Bristor Belcher.

MRS. DANA EGBERT

SHELBY—Mrs. Dana Seltzer Egbert, 66, who moved from Shelby 34 years ago, died Sunday in Olympia, Wash., where she made her home.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Mary White; a son, Laurence; and six grandchildren, all of Seattle, Wash. A brother, John Seltzer, Marvin avenue, Shelby, also survives. Her husband died in 1936.

Funeral services will be in Olympia.

Navy Discharges Over 2,800,000

WASHINGTON -- (AP) — The navy reported today that it has discharged more than 2,800,000 men and women since May 1944.

Because of the rapid demobilization, the navy said it will close its 29 separation centers Sept. 1. Personnel eligible for discharge after that date will be processed at permanent naval shore stations and hospitals.

ISSUE PERMITS FOR VET HOMES

Millsboro Construction Firm Gets Green Light on 52 Prefabs.

Permits for construction of the 52 pre-fabricated homes for veterans announced yesterday by R. E. Constance, president of the Millsboro Construction company, sponsors of the project, were issued today to the firm.

Veterans are to be given first-purchase preference of the proposed homes to be located north of Millsboro road, just off Marion avenue. Most will be located on Manchester and Linden road and will be built at a cost of $8,000 each, according to the permits.

Completion date for all units has been set at Nov. 1. Depending upon labor supply they are to be erected at the rate of two a day, the company said. One unit is partially complete and the basements for six others have been dug.

They will be of panelized, prefabricated construction, with oak floors, linoleum in baths and kitchens, built-in cupboards and laundry trays in basements. Size, according to the permits will be 30 by 24 by 8 feet.

Simmons Funeral To Be In Newark

Funeral services for William David Simmons, 65, who died Sunday at his home, 45 West Fifth street, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m in Newark. Burial will be in the Wilson cemetery in Licking county.

Mr. Simmons, who came to Mansfield five years ago, was agent for the Motorists Mutual Insurance company of Columbus. The body will remain at the Wappner funeral home here until Thursday noon.

Never Had to Use Gun or Club In 11 Years as Deputy Sheriff

By PHILIP GREENE

Although he has a lot of work left in his 200 pound six foot one-inch frame, C. C. (Doc) Gongwer, deputy sheriff whose resignation was announced yesterday, has had enough law enforcement work.

Eleven and one-half years in the Richland county sheriff's department has had its ups and downs for Doc (his first name is really Clarence) and he's leaving it for a position in private industry.

"I have several things in mind, but nothing that's quite certain yet," the former deputy said today.

Gongwer, who has had more than his share of work with lawbreakers, recalled a night several years ago when a "young punk" decided no one was big enough to take him to jail.

"The fellow got in the cruiser all right, but after he got in he became insulting and said I wasn't big enough to put him in jail. He kept it up until I decided to take no more of it. So I stopped the car and began to get out.

"'What are you stopping for?' the fellow asked. 'Well,' I said, 'I never do more than one thing at a time. I've been driving this car for the past 15 minutes. Now I'm going to stop and take care of you.'

"Well, I never lifted my hand but that fellow changed his mind in a hurry. He was very quick to assure me that he was a 'good fellow.' I never had any more trouble out of him."

A lot of the work of the sheriff's department is in handling the unfortunate ones who are mentally ill. Because they're not really lawbreakers, such people must be handled with "kid gloves."

he was called to a county home to take into custody a man who subsequently was found to be mentally ill.

"My orders were to bring him in. But he wouldn't let me inside the house. Kept the door locked. I could have broken in but I didn't want to do that.

"The man kept talking and shouting and several times he mentioned his garden. He was pretty proud of that garden. So I told him I didn't believe he had one. That got him; he came out of the house and showed me. We discussed his flowers and vegetables for a while and then went and sat on the front porch.

"He had calmed down by then and I told him what I had to do. He came along peacefully then."

Such was the usual method adopted by Gongwer, the deputy who served five and one-half years under Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and six years under former Sheriff E. P. Long. During those 11 and one-half years, Gongwer states, he was never forced to hit a man with a blackjack or use his gun.

"But even so, it's pretty tough work. I had eight years of night duty. Now I want to take it a bit easier. I'm not as young as I used to be," the former deputy said.

Gongwer, whose nickname of "Doc" came from his work in a drugstore as a teen-ager, is married and has two married children, a boy and a girl. He lives at 456 Hammond avenue.

6 Discharged At Great Lakes

(Special to The News-Journal)

Three Mansfielders and three area men were discharged today from Great Lakes naval separation center at Chicago.

Mansfielders included: Sheldon Shaffer, seaman first class, 371 Shepard road; Clarence D. Hergatt, seaman second class, 76 Waring avenue; and William C. Fassos, fireman first class, 328½ East Second street.

Area releases included: Calvin H. Rossman, aviation electrician's mate third class, Bucyrus; Allan C. Doerner, seaman first class, Painesville; and Richard C. Eggerton, seaman first class, Perrysville.

Word was received here yesterday of the birth of a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Georgopulos at the Royal infirmary in Aberdeen, Scotland.

Steve Georgopulos of the Parkway Lunch, said today that his wife planned to join him in Mansfield sometime in September. Mr. and Mrs. Georgopulos were married in Aberdeen, Scotland July 21, 1945 while the former was stationed in England with the U. S. Army.

Polio Case to Get Special Treatment

Mansfield's first infantile paralysis victim of this year, a seven-year-old boy who lives in the northeastern section of the city, will be taken to Children's hospital at Columbus for special treatment.

William Mead, chairman of the county infantile paralysis society, notified Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner today that arrangements have been completed for the treatment.

AFTER 10 YEARS—

When Anthony Mollica and his son, Lewis, 580 Woodhill road, left home Monday for a trip to Italy, it was just 10 years to the day since the father left Mansfield to make a similar trip. Mollica and his son are leaving from New York today on the S. S. Vulcania. In Italy they will visit his 84 year old mother, and four brothers and two sisters. They are planning to return by air in four months.

ARMY LIFE!—

Personnel of the Mansfield army recruiting station discovered they were really in the army yesterday as, reminiscent of basic training, Sgts. Thomas Farrell, Roland Hilborn, Michael Selkowsky and Robert Morse puffed and scrubbed with GI brushes, mops, rags and pails to "GI" their postoffice headquarters into almost mirrorlike cleanliness against the day when the next inspection from Cleveland recruiting headquarters occurs. Even Lt. Thomas Blackburn busied himself on a stepladder washing walls and ceiling.

LOSES TEMPER, KILLS HUSBAND

29-Year-Old Mother of Two Faces Murder Charge in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI—(AP)— A 29-year-old mother was charged with murder today after the fatal shooting of her war-veteran husband during a domestic quarrel. Homicide Detective Thomas Faragher filed the warrant.

Detective Sgt. George Ebbers said Charles B. Ulm, 33, was shot last night with a revolver he had brought home from Germany earlier this year.

The wife, Mrs. Marie Ulm, said in a signed statement, Ebbers declared, that her husband "always was coming home late from work and our meals were always cold.

"He never took me out any place," Ebbers quoted her as saying. "Tonight we got into an argument and I stood all I could. Something cracked inside me and I shot him."

Ebbers said the couple's two children, Jackie, 2, and Buddie, 3, slept peacefully in an adjoining room during the argument and fatal shooting.

MANHUNT REOPENS

COALVILLE, Utah —(INS)— A new manhunt was instituted today for the slayer of Jack D. Stallings, 21-year-old Corning, O., ex-sailor who was murdered while en route to California for his wedding. Twenty-three-year-old Iner J. Wistinsen, of Ogden, Utah, was absolved of any complicity in the slaying as Sheriff George M. Fisher of Coalville termed him a "victim of circumstances."

LEADERS WANT GI PAYMENTS MADE IN CASH

Prepare For Battle Against Move Before Committee of House, Senate.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House supporters of terminal pay for GI's and gobs shouted an emphatic "no" today to the senate's plan to issue bonds cashable only after five years.

Rallying behind the cry that "if cash is good enough for officers it's good enough for the enlisted men," the group planned to fight for restoration of the original house provision for lump sum payments.

That fight will be made in a senate-house conference to which the bill passed by the senate late yesterday may be sent by nightfall.

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.), chairman of the military subcommittee which wrote the house bill, and Rep. Dwight L. Rogers (D-Fla), its co-sponsor, told reporters they will demand a reversal of the senate's position.

"If cash is good enough for the officers it's good enough for the enlisted men," said Sikes.

"The main argument for payments in bonds," Sikes added, "is that it would be inflationary to pay out so much cash at one time. It's a strange thing that the only time people worry about inflation is when the GI's are liable to get some cash."

Rogers and Sikes both noted that the bond payment plan was not even considered by the house when it passed the bill without a dissenting vote on June 11. The senate action yesterday was by voice vote.

Suggested by Truman.

The bond provision, suggested by President Truman after the house acted on its own bill, provides that payments generally are to be in bonds unless the amount is less than $50. In that case the recipient would get cash.

The bonds would be in $25 denominations, non-negotiable and payable at the end of five years at their face value plus interest accrued at two and one-half percent. Payments in amounts other than a unit of $25 would be in cash. A man entitled to $85, for instance, would receive $75 in bonds and $10 in cash.

Payments entirely in cash would be made to men discharged before Jan. 1, 1943, and to survivors of men who have died since their discharge.

Both the senate and the house versions are estimated to cost up to $3,000,000,000, although under the bond proposal not all of that would be paid out in cash at once.

The senate provided in addition that no service personnel shall receive payments for more than 90 days of unused furlough time accruing after September 1 of this year. The house bill contained no such provision but declared a congressional policy that no terminal leave payments be made in future wars. The senate limited to 30 days the accumulated leave payable in future wars.

Heretofore, only officers have been paid for unused leave time up to a maximum of 120 days.

WOMEN ACT

Willard Housewives Circulate Petition For Softener.

WILLARD — Impatient housewives today were circulating petitions among the citizens of this town to have their proposed $50,000 water softening plant put before the voters in the November elections following an unsuccessful attempt last night to interest the trustees of the board of public affairs in the matter.

At a meeting of the board last night the committee presented their proposal and evidence that the plant would not use any appreciable extra amount of water, that the cost of the plant after installation would not exceed $2,550 per year, and that the taste would not be altered, the three chief objections of the board.

A motion by the board to take the matter under advisement for 30 days was not satisfactory to the committee, led by Mrs. Paul Fackler, and the petitioning began this morning.

Tappan's to Mark 65th Year With Open House for Public

The Tappan Stove company, 250 Wayne street, will celebrate its 65th year of operation one week from today by holding "open house" at the plant for the general public.

This first public "open house" celebration since the lifting of wartime restrictions will be held between 8 a. m. and 2 p. m., and 6:30 and 10 p. m., July 31, according to Verne O. Kyle, personnel director for the company, and general chairman of the "open house" program.

Kyle said today that a display would be set up on the second floor of the building showing all types of stove models now in production, and that company officials would be present to answer questions on the new models.

In addition to the display, information booths will be set up in all departments to answer visitors' questions on the various phases of production. A reception center will also be maintained for visitors' benefit.

Named to the "open house" advisory committee today by Kyle were Gilbert Oswalt, Thomas Butts, Harold Horning, Paul Wolf, Richard Schmidt, Bruce Rogers, John Gerger, Robert VanTilburg, and Eunice Crawford.

Also serving on the "open house" committee are Richard Creveling, Ray Hammond, Robert Spitzer, William Bauer, Raymond Lay, Herman Clingan, Oliver LaRue, Dave Gregg, Andrew Mortimer, Burt Hower, Don Sharp, George Condos, Jack Stoodt and John Pocock.

Wiseman, Hager, Root Qualify for Ohio Amateur Tourney

Hal Clawson

There was quite a delegation from this area who competed in the Ohio amateur tourney at Lima yesterday.

Elsewhere on this page is a story telling of how two of them fared.

Carl Wiseman and Al Hager just got under the wire to gain the match play that starts today. Three other Mansfield linksmen failed.

Gene Zediker's 81, Dale Rose's 82 and Bill Mercer's 79 left them out.

Two Ashlander's also gained today's play. They are R. C. Garretson who fired a 77 and Dick Lutz with a 76.

Huber McCuen, Ashland, had 86 Jim Root of Plymouth also gained the match play with a 76

Tiger Ace Wins 19th; Red Sox Beaten, 7-1

Record Crowd Watches Chicago Down AL Leaders; NL Games Rained Out.

By JACK HAND, AP Sports Writer.

Hal Newhouser thought he'd never get another chance at a 30-game season when he missed out in 1944 but he's heading toward the promised land with 19 victories and at least 16 more pitching turns for Detroit.

Two years ago when the Tigers just failed to nip the Brownies at the wire, Newhouser won 29.

The brilliant southpaw has worked an average of about once in every four games Detroit has played. Only once, however, has he gone to the hill without three days rest and on that occasion he was charged with a loss on relief.

Twenty-one starts have produced 19 complete games and his current victory string is seven games long after yesterday's 6-1 verdict over Washington. With 67 games to go, he figures to draw about 16 more starting turns, barring arm trouble

Boston has been able to stop him twice, once knocking him out in the first inning of a 15-4 rout. His only other failure to go the route was a mid-May meeting with Chicago when he lasted seven frames and received credit for a 6-5 decision.

Newhouser's lone relief job was a flop. Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks nicked him for a home run that sent the tilt into overtime and Tommy Henrich belted a decisive round tripper in the 11th inning.

* * *

Detroit routed an old jinx, Dutch Leonard, as Newhouser continued his spell over Washington, allowing only five hits The Tigers rapped Leonard and Marino Pieretti for 11 safeties

The day's program was limited to four American league games when showers washed out the entire National league card

Allie Reynolds turned in a workmanlike job in blanking the A's 2-0 for his fourth success in a row for the Cleveland Indians.

Boston flopped on its first start of a long western swing, bowing to Chicago, 7-1 as the White Sox wrapped it up with five runs off Bill Zuber in the first inning Johnny Rigney tossed a brilliant five-hitter at the league leaders, holding Ted Williams hitless. A crowd of 49,376, largest ever to witness a single game in Chicago, saw the contest.

With a chance to gain a full length on the Red Sox, the New York Yankees fell flat on their faces in dropping an 8-2 game to St Louis.

Colleges Must Stop Paying Star Athletes

CHICAGO —(AP)— The National Collegiate Association council today has for study recommendations by representatives of 20 major college athletic conferences that recruiting and paying athletes must be abolished.

The delegates, winding up an unprecedented two-day meeting yesterday, took a firm stand against semi-professionalism, agreeing to boycott offending schools if necessary.

They suggested that "athletes should not be paid by direct or indirect means, because of athletic abilities" They aimed a blow at recruiting with the proposal that "no member of an athletic staff or official representatives of athletic interests, shall, outside the boundaries of his own campus, solicit the attendance at his institution of any prospective student."

The NCAA group—after adjourning a routine session last night—today began deliberations on these recommendations However, any action to invoke the newly expressed spirit of amateurism will wait until the NCAA convenes in New York next January

The delegates softened their proposal to shut off financial aid to athletes by approval of tuition costs on the basis of need.

Graziano Wants Bout on Aug. 16

NEW YORK —(INS)— Rocky Graziano's managers will confer with Promoter Mike Jacobs this afternoon on possible opponents for an Aug 16 bout as a result of postponement of the Rock's scheduled 15-rounder tomorrow night with Tony Zale.

The Graziano-Zale contest was postponed until Sept. 26 when boxing commission physicians found Tony suffering from inter-costal myositis, a medical term meaning a crick in the back Zale leaves today for his Gary, Ind, home where he will enter a hospital for special treatment

The race here is sponsored jointly by the N-J, Brandenburg Chevrolet company and the YMCA.

Allie Wins on Three-Hitter

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Cleveland's Indians set their sights on fourth place today and judging from their recent efforts the Tribesmen are a good bet to make it.

Welcomed home from the east last night by a crowd of 25,399, the Indians went to work and put on a show.

Allie Reynolds, whose comeback has solved one of Manager Lou Boudreau's main hurling problems, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics with three singles as Cleveland won 2 to 0 to move within three games of the first division's lower rung. The triumph was Reynolds' fourth straight and sixth of the year.

The Athletics didn't made a solid hit off Reynolds until the eighth inning Pete Suder got a scratch single to deep short in the fifth but Pinch Hitter Tuck Stainback delivered the first clean hit in the eighth. Sam Chapman collected the other hit in the ninth.

Bob Feller will shoot for his 18th triumph as the clubs resume their series today. The A's nominated rookie Bob Savage

64 of Ohio's Best Start Match Play

Urbana's Pete Dye Medalist With 68; Wiseman Plays Root In First Round.

By HAROLD HARRISON

LIMA—(AP)—A field of 64 that was rated about as fast as anything that ever has competed in the Ohio amateur golf tournament today began the hand-to-hand conflicts that will produce the successor to Frank Stranahan of Toledo as the king of the Buckeye state's play-for-fun linksmen.

Twenty-one year old Paul (Pete) Dye, jr., of Urbana, provided the biggest par-busting feat in the 18-hole qualifier yesterday, but the 64 who gained spots in the championship flight were locked up tighter than a brand new bank vault on a Sunday afternoon.

Only 10 strokes separated Dye's four-under-par 68 and the last dozen who got into the championship flight with 78 each.

Actually there were 14 with 78 but George Long of Findlay and Charles Evans of Urbana couldn't be found for a "sudden death" playoff so the other 12 got into the match play without a struggle.

Dye opened the firing today against Bill Jaeger of Columbus, who qualified with a 76.

Mansfield's Carl Wiseman shot a 78 and is matched with a fellow Richland county player, Jim Root, Shelby, who turned in a 76.

Al Hager, the second Mansfield star in the tourney, is paired against Chick Hendrickson of Sandusky. Hager had a 78 and his opponent for today a 76.

Tournament officials took a couple of looks at how quickly the sun goes down nowadays and decided something would have to be done about the playing arrangement. Originally, two 18-hole match play rounds were scheduled for today but that was changed.

Only the first round now is on today's program. That means two 18-hole rounds each Thursday and Friday with the semi-finals being reduced to 18 holes The finals—over the 36-hole route—will be played Saturday.

A total of 171 golfers faced the starter yesterday and officials said that was the largest in history. Some of them didn't turn in cards at the finish.

Dye, a stocky lad, who won the 1940 state high school championship, was among the first 16 to finish and then he stalled around at the course for six hours or more watching the rest of the field try to catch him.

The Ohio State Golf association held its annual meeting here yesterday and re-elected John Gillespie and Ben Neal of Columbus as president and vice president, respectively.

E. H. (Sock-Eye) Davis, also of Columbus, was elected secretary, succeeding Jack Cullen, jr, of Cleveland, who asked to be relieved of his duties because of the press of business.

Pairings for today's first round of match play in the 1946 Ohio amateur golf tournament.

Etzel Fires 34 In N-J Golf Loop at P-R

Ted Etzel of Gorman-Rupp fired a two-under par 34 last evening to capture low honors in the News-Journal class A golf league at Possum Run.

Pete Thoma and Joe Kasper —No. 1 and 2 men, respectively, for Tucker Furniture—banged out 36's for runner-up honors.

The two fine performances helped the Furnitures to a 5-0 win over the Q-Billiards and narrowed the gap between them and the league-leading P. D. Bar team to five points.

P. D picked up four points in its match with Orr Typewriter.

R. Dillon of Gorman-Rupp had to go five extra holes to whip Noel Morgan of Richland Printing while R. Oakes of Tuckers was pushed to one extra hole to defeat W. Linn of the Q-Billiards.

Fine Hurling Features Play In Indus Softball League

Three well - pitched softball games were turned in last evening in the Industrial softball league.

Topping the list was Bob Regula's one-hit shutout for Harrington Aircrafters against Ideal Electric at North Lake park.

Taylor, Ideal catcher, collected the lone hit off Regula as the Aircrafters won 2-0. Smith and Bechtler slammed out three-base hits and Regula doubled to pace the winner's seven-hit attack on Weaver.

Humphryes' Dale McKinley and Tappan Stove's Larry Madden hooked up in a mound duel at Prospect with the tilt going nine innings before the former came through with a 6-2 victory.

Tallying two runs in the first frame, Humphryes saw the game tied up in the sixth.

In the first of the ninth, Parr homered to start the Humphryes' nine on a six-run rally. Miller had homered earlier and Shire doubled for the winners' other extra base hits.

Aid Geiger set Mansfield Tire down with three bingles as his Gorman-Rupp nine won its seventh Indus tilt, 10-1, against one setback. It also kept them on the heels of Barnes which was idle last night.

Moxley cracked out four hits—including two doubles--out of five trips ehtotl aeaotettehppc i-u . trips to the plate to pace the G-R attack.

LAUBIE'S NINE WINS IN EXTRA INNINGS

SHELBY—In an extra two-inning Shelby Softball league game, Laubie's Shell Filling station came from behind to defeat the American Legion, 9 to 6, Tuesday night on the waterworks diamond.

The Legion took a 5 to 0 lead in the first inning, but Laubie's station tied up the game in the sixth inning. The winning runs came in the first half of the ninth after Walter Cron, player-manager, walked two players. George Zejters knocked out a home run to bring in Irey, while Hench came home on errors made by Legion players.

Babe Sets New Course Mark At Chicago

CHICAGO—(AP)—Eighty professional men golfers compete today for the remaining 60 positions in the $50,000 All-American tournament opening tomorrow and there was little doubt that they were happy that Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias wasn't in their field.

The Babe, a Texas product now living in Denver, Colo., "got serious" in time to post a course record for women of 6-under par 70 on the Ritzy Tam O'Shanter tournament strip yesterday in topping the 30 lady qualifiers. Peggy Berg, Minneapolis, who qualified by virtue of her championship last year, held the old record at 72.

The Babe's sub-par golf established her as the one to beat in the 72 hole medal play tourney for the feminine portion of the three all-American tournaments, the professional, the amateur, and the women's open.

All three will be conducted simultaneously starting tomorrow and at the finish Sunday some $50,000 in prizes will be awarded the winners in the field of some 250 shooters.

In today's 18-hole qualifying round for men pros who are not exempt, 60 will be selected to complete the 160 men's open field. The women's field includes the 30 who qualified yesterday and nine exempt players, while some 50 amateurs are expected to compete.

Four Ohio women bettered the qualifying score of 89 to stay in the running. They were: Carol Deringer of Toledo with 42-43—85; Rosann Shaffer of Toledo, 44-43—87; Peggy Kirk of Findlay, 39-46—85; and Dolly Schildmiller of Cincinnati, 45-42—87.

GALION SCHOOL BOARD HIRES LEXINGTON MAN

Marion Shank to Be Principal of Junior High and West School.

GALION—Employment of Marion E. Shank, 34, former superintendent of Lexington schools, as principal of the junior high and West elementary school, and Miss Maria Johnston, of Marion, as elementary teacher, were highlights of a special meeting of the Galion board of education Tuesday night.

Shank, who has been at Lexington since 1944, is a graduate of Findlay college, and received his master's degree from Ohio State university. He has had 12 years of administrative experience, in positions at Salem township, Upper Sandusky, Milford Center and Lexington. He is married and has two children. He will fill the vacancy made by the resignation of A. R. Liggett.

Miss Johnston has taught in the Marion schools since 1940. Prior to that time she had 11 years experience in Coshocton county. She received her training at Muskingum and Ohio State university.

The board received the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Pancoast who was hired recently. She has decided not to teach this coming year. In addition to her resignation, the board accepted the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Liggett and W. F. Probst. These were announced recently by Supt. Povenmire.

BEST CAMPERS

Ashland Boy and Girl Chosen Tops at Camp.

ASHLAND — Two Ashlanders were chosen from among 98 Ohio Evangelical campers at a state camp meeting at Linwood as the best all-round girl and boy campers in the state. Honored were Alfreda Jackson and Robert Hutchison.

Ten young people from Ashland attended the sessions. Rev. Wendell Freshley of Moline, was director of the camp.

Ask Permission To Invest Fund

ASHLAND -An application has been filed with the clerk of courts by trustees of Ashland college who request authority to invest one-fourth of their endowment fund in income-producing real estate.

The move is contemplated by college officials to help alleviate the campus housing shortage. At present the endowment fund stands at $381,594.54.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

MILLERSBURG — A marriage license was issued in probate court Wednesday to Judson C. Schuler, 29, Millersburg attorney, and Beverly G. Blum, 32, secretary, Millersburg.

Dennis Reed, 29, farmer, Killbuck, and Verla McGovern, beautician, Holmesville; and Forest Force, 28, farmer, Shreve, R. D., and Kathleen L. Carpenter, 24, Millersburg, R. D., applied for licenses.

HARDY GRANGE

MILLERSBURG — Program of the Hardy grange will be presented by the young people of the organization at the meeting tonight at 8:30 p. m.

ELECT OFFICERS AT LEGION POST

Harold Phalor in Command of Loudonville Post 257.

LONDONVILLE — Harold E. Phalor, who held the post of vice-commander last year, has been elected commander of Loudonville Post 257, American Legion, succeeding James A. Gilky.

Other new officers are Wayne "Rusty" Sprang, first vice-commander; James Duncan, second vice-commander; D. A. Simmons, adjutant; Ralph Arnholt, finance officer; J. O. Arnholt, chaplain; Richard McGee, sergeant-at-arms, and Joe Cowan and Howard Arnholt, jr., executive committee.

Phalor, Sprang, Cowan, Simmons, William Kirkpatrick, and George Lavengood have been elected delegates to the department convention in Cleveland Aug. 18-20.

Tonight the post auxiliary will meet in the club rooms.

THE GYPSY

Beware of Fortune Tellers, Says Ashland Sheriff.

ASHLAND A warning to beware of gypsies who are reported to be operating in Ashland county has been issued by Sheriff H. R Myers.

The gypsies, who work under the guise of lady fortune tellers, are believed to be the same women who earlier this year were reported to have placed an aged Ashland woman under a spell while they ransacked her house and escaped with more than $20 and some cherished household belongings.

BROTHER DIES

SHELBY—David Lewis, brother of Ed Lewis, Mrs. Dillard Phillips, and Mrs. C. M. Black, of Shelby died Saturday at his home in Ashland, Ky. The widow, two daughters, two sons, and two other brothers and one sister survive. He was a member of the Masons and the Christian church.

Maxwell Bodenheim, American poet and novelist, had no formal schooling.

MORE SCHOOLING FOR ASHLAND'S JUNE GRADUATES

Former Servicemen Also Seek Transcripts For College Entrance.

ASHLAND—The nation's trend toward crowded college campuses is reflected by Ashland high school where 225 transcripts already have been mailed out to 53 colleges, two hospitals, and one beauty school.

Transcripts already requested by members of the 1946 graduating class and former service personnel sets a new record, says Principal A. B. Gorsuch, who announced that last year only 30 graduates planned college careers and another 75 were sworn into the armed services.

Of the 188 members of the June class, 69 have already indicated intentions of taking higher instruction.

Some of the students applying for admission to institutions of higher learning are making application at several colleges in the hope that they can be squeezed into a frosh class somewhere this fall.

Evictions, Yes; But Few 'Scraps'

Although the number of eviction cases filed in municipal court during the OPA "vacation" climbed to a record 31, there was little, if any, real "scrapping" between landlords and tenants.

The proceedings were handled quietly and in most cases landlords and tenants put their heads together and worked out some mutual settlement. Not one tenant was "put out on the street" and in many cases they were given from three weeks to nearly two months from the time cases were filed to find other living quarters.

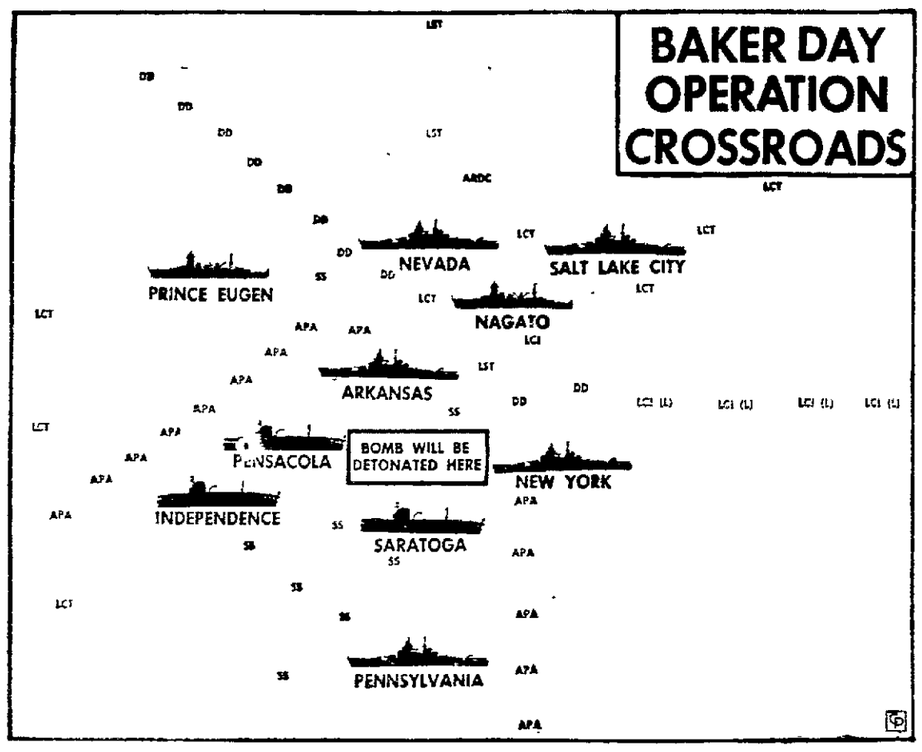
Two of the 12 cases already heard resulted in dismissal actions in favor of the tenants. Ten ended in actual ouster actions. Several of the cases were dismissed because tenants found other quarters before the case was heard.

Judge H. H. Schettler, who still has 15 to hear of the cases filed this month described the ouster proceedings as "more of a shuffling of people than anything else."

He gave as an example of the "shuffling" procedure the case of a soldier and his family who were given a move-out notice.

By mutual agreement between the tenant and the landlord the soldier was permitted to remain in his present home until the first of the new Vetville units near Mifflin are opened, Schettler said. "This particular vet will have first call on one of the first units," he said.

Here Are Atom Targets for Today



This diagram shows the target array of ships in Bikini Lagoon, in readiness for the "Baker Day" under-water atomic bomb test. The No 5 atomic bomb will be centered between the old battleship Arkansas and the gallant carrier Saratoga. The Arkansas will be the nearest target vessel to the barge beneath which the bomb will be exploded. Just ahead of the Arkansas and behind the Saratoga are submarines which will be submerged at various depths to about fifty feet. The over-all layout, including the placing of the double-hulled sub Pilotfish and the spacing of other underseas craft, indicates the Navy is most interested in learning how they react to the explosion. The ships marked DD are destroyers; SS (submarine); APA (attack transport); LST (landing ship tank); LCI (landing craft infantry); and ARDC (floating drydock).

ASKS $25,000

Mrs. Carver Claims Damages as Result of Auto Crash.

Suit for $25,000 damages allegedly suffered in an auto collision last fall had been filed in common pleas court against Hubert M. Howe, 47 West Fifth street, today.

Plaintiff is Mrs. Mary Carver, Mansfield, R. D. 6, who claims that Howe drove his auto on the wrong side of the Mansfield-Little Washington road near the city limits, causing his car to collide head-on with her auto last Oct. 21.

Mrs. Carver claims personal injuries, including a brain concussion, which damaged her to the amount of $25,000. Her attorneys are Glenn W. Marriott and C. H. Freehafer.

Paris Peace Parley to Ask Much of 5 Axis Satellites

By SIGRID ARNE
(Second of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The five Axis satellites, whose futures will be decided at the Paris peace conference, which opens on July 29 probably will hear demands that they pay through the nose for their poor political judgment when they joined Germany.

The nations whose fate will be determined by the Paris meeting are: Finland, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Italy.

They'll be asked for two types of payments: (1) Goods, which they either have on hand or are producing; (2) Territory, which some will be asked to give up, Italy receiving the heaviest bill in this category.

Part of these payments have been worked out by the Big Four foreign ministers over the past several months — representatives of the U. S., United Kingdom, Russia and France. Part of the payments were demanded immediately after the war, when the armistice terms were written, with the Big Three (France out) acting as authors.

Here's what the payments (reparations) add up to:

Finland: Russia wrote these armistice terms. Under them Finland turned over the port of Petsamo to Russia. And she agreed to permit Russian military bases on the Aaland islands, in the Baltic, and at Porkkala Udd, in south Finland. For Porkkala Udd, Russia agreed to pay $5,000,000 Finnish marks a year for 50 years

Finland also has agreed to pay Russia $300 million during the next six years, mostly in timber, paper, celluslose, ships and machinery.

Bulgaria: Russia wrote these armistice terms. They direct her to pay reparations to Greece and Yugoslavia, where her troops caused the most destruction. The amount has not been set, but the claims are to be presented at Paris.

Romania: Over the next six years she is to pay Russia $300,000,000 in oil, grain, timber, sea and river craft, and machinery. Also Romania turned over to Russia the area called Bessarabia. But she received under Russian dictation, an area called Transylvania, which had been part of Hungary.

Hungary: Besides losing Transylvania, she is also to pay $300,000,000 in reparations. But her payments are split in recognition of the lands on which her troops caused destruction. $200,000,000 is to go to Czechoslovakia, and $70,000,000 for Yugoslavia. These payments are also in kind: machinery, river craft, grain and livestock.

Italy: The fate of her African colonies—Tripolitania, Cyrenaica, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea—was the subject of so much argument among the Big Four foreign ministers that it has been put on ice for a year, with the British administering the area It was agreed, however, that Italy must renounce sovereignty.

Arguments split in all directions: The U. S. wanted a non-interested nation to run the areas under United Nations supervision. France (a big owner of foreign land herself) wanted Italy to get her colonies back, with U. N. supervising.

In the discussion, Russia announced she'd like to run Tripolitania, under U. N. supervision, but she gave in quickly on that Britain took no stand, except that she had promised Cyrenacian tribes, which were subjected to Italian brutalities, that they would not have to live under Italian rule again.

Trieste, the Yugoslav port which Italy has run, was the second explosive issue in this treaty The Yugoslavs want it back, and Russia agreed The U. S, U. K., and France wanted Italy to keep the port

The Big Four finally agreed to a French proposal which makes Trieste an "international zone" under United Nations rule. Only a small strip around the city will be in the zone, and the rest of the hinterland reverts to the Yugoslavs.

At first there was no mention of Italian reparations, but then Russia asked for $30,000,000. That was cut back to $100,000,000, to be paid in goods. Italy can wait two years before she starts paying.

The reparations terms this time vary from those after the last World war in one important detail: They ask for payment in goods instead of money. The Allies remembered what happened last time, when Germany was paying in reichsmarks which became worthless, partly through German financial tinkering.

This time, also, the payment periods are shorter. Last time when the payments dragged out, after much whining from the Germans, the U. S. took the lead (known as the "Hoover moratorium") in ending the German reparations payments. The European nations have no desire to see that happen again.

OPA READY TO RESTORE JUNE 30 CEILINGS

Agency Prepares For Speedy Action When New Bill Gets Final OK.

to August 20 are poultry, eggs, tobacco, petroleum and their products. In the case of these items, maximum prices could not be restored even after August 20 unless the control board so ruled.

OPA expects the list of ceiling-free products covered directly and indirectly by these provisions to number in the hundreds. On the list, in addition to products mentioned specifically, would be such items as ice cream, canned meat spreads, cigarets, cigars, gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil.

Restaurant Meals.

While major food items which make up restaurant and hotel meals would be free of ceilings at least until August 20, these meals would be under ceilings.

However, the cost of dining out probably would be higher than it was June 30 because an OPA regulation provides for basing the price of a meal on the actual cost of raw food. Restaurants could make these price adjustments without clearing through OPA.

Rents.

The bill makes virtually no changes in rent control provisions. OPA plans to reestablish June 30 rent ceilings across the board.

On evictions, notices served prior to July 1 under OPA regulations would date from the time of issuance.

Subsidies.

The bill authorizies expenditure of $1,000,000,000 in subsidies during the fiscal year 1946-47, as compared with $2,075,133,321 the previous year.

Continuance of previous subsidies is authorized in the case of copper, lead and zinc, as well as on crude oil from stripper wells, despite elimination of ceilings on petroleum.

Restoration of the sugar subsidy also is authorized.

Profits.

On "reconversion" items such as automobiles, household appliances and farm implements, OPA is required to restore dealers' prewar profit margins. On autos, for example, margins had been cut 4.5 per cent to hold down retail prices.

OPA has estimated that elimination of this cut would raise the price of popular-priced cars by an average of at least $75.

Clothing.

The bill eliminates a requirement that manufacturers produce low-cost clothing. It does not touch OPA's authority to fix ceilings on individual garments.

General Decontrol.

The bill provides for removal of price controls when supply and demand come into approximate balance.

OPA could retain ceilings only on those farm commodities which the secretary of agriculture certified were scarce.

OPA officials said that under the new set-up, ceilings on cotton textiles particularly—and hence on cotton clothing—would have to be increased, since the present market price of cotton is considerably above parity.

WHITEWASH WHITE

other Jews—one wounded and one dead—were found by police in a schoolhouse in the old city. Police said they found two complete sets of Arab clothing, bloodstained and punctured by bullets, in the school.

Eyewitnesses have asserted that eight youths who planted milk cans containing explosives in the hotel were dressed as Arabs, but spoke Hebrew.

The statement signed by Irgun Zvai Leumi, admitting the placing of the explosives, was typewritten in Hebrew and delivered last night by messenger boy, in the usual method employed by the underground to make public its communiques.

The announcement, which described the loss of life as a "tragedy," said the British ignored warnings that the hotel was to be bombed, and thus were responsible for the high death toll

British military headquarters quickly denied that Irgun had given any advance word.

The 34-year-old Holloway, fifteen miles away from the target, will push a final button on a powerful transmitter and in exactly thirty seconds the bomb will send an estimated million tons of water hurtling two to three miles into the air.

Before the explosion, damage to the target fleet was strictly a matter of conjecture but some experts predicted that the sub-surface blast would smash against the hulls with one hundred times the force of the overhead burst July 1.

WOULD EXTEND CITY SEWERS TO ALLOTMENTS

State, Local Officials Weigh Problem of Inadequate Sewage Facilities.

meeting was only one of a series to be held to map a long-range plan for improving the city's sewer system and sewage facilities.

"We won't be able to move ahead until we make a careful study of the needs. But we've made a tentative beginning," he said.

Attending yesterday's meeting besides Vaughn and Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow were G. A. Hall, assistant engineer in the state health department; J. J. Wirts, specially-hired sanitary engineer, and Councilmen Charles N. Schultz and James R. Anderson, of council's sewer committee.

In a prepared statement following the meeting the group said concerning the city's sewage treatment facilities and an area sewer program:

Most pressing needs for the treatment plant are "additional aeration capacity, sludge handling facilities and increased pumping facilities that will enable the sewage treatment plant to handle larger volumes of sewage."

The group also proposed "that a comprehensive plan be drawn that would recognize the metropolitan Mansfield area as a single problem."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1946

With values shrinking as prices rise there may be need for an upward revision of that loan to Britain.

An idea now seems to be that one way to "get away from it all" is to "rough it" for awhile in the Maine woods, at $84 a week.

Let's see, now that we have a large modern airport, what's to be done next to move toward the 100,000 population that such an airport deserves?

To Review Fund-Raising Appeals

GOOD JUDGMENT is shown in the decision to systematize future fund-raising campaigns in Mansfield, to scrutinize the trustworthiness of sponsors, and to avoid overlapping of approved drives.

As is pointed out, few individuals are sufficiently informed to judge the merits of various appeals for contributions, and it is a regrettable fact that some persons are not above taking advantage of the generosity which influences many people to give beyond their means.

It is gratifying to note the extent of support pledged to co-operation with the newly organized Public Appeals Review Board, and as the purposes of this movement become generally understood its advantages will be even more apparent.

Some idea of the need of restraint is seen in the statement that almost a score of appeals to stage fund-raising campaigns in Mansfield within the next six months have already been received—and the flood of mail requests for contributions could quickly drain the community of money for any other purposes if all were heeded.

Decision to resume confining Community Fund contributions to support of local agencies is in accord with the original intent of that annual fund-raising activity, and it cannot be escaped that a limited number of campaigns to secure money for national and international philanthropic and humanitarian purposes will be locally sanctioned. There should be a reasonable limit, however, to such solicitations, as well as to the multiplicity of "tag day" appeals which have come into vogue in recent years.

It is explained that church groups, fraternal organizations, and the like, can carry on whatever fund-raising activities they care to—within their own membership—it being only when public solicitation is involved that sanction by the Review Board will be required to gain favorable response.

Suggestion that all appeals by mail, from national organizations, should be disregarded, in the absence of information as to reliability, may well be adopted as a policy, as this is a favorite field for crooked operators to prey upon "generous but gullible people."

As with speculative "investment" schemes, glowingly presented, the "investigate before you invest" injunction can now be properly applied to all requests for contributions —and it is the Public Appeals Review Board in which dependence had best be placed to do the investigating.

More Accidents In Richland County

A WORD of admonition comes from the Ohio State Safety Council about Richland county's poor showing in the matter of accident deaths in 1945 as compared with 1944.

Richland county, it appears, is among six Ohio counties that had lower than average accident rates in previous years experienced such increases in 1945 as to go above the state average.

Data shows there were 57 fatal accidents in this county last year and that at least 6,100 persons suffered some degree of injury, with the county's loss from accidents approximately $1,900,000.

"Had the county's experience been as good as that of 1944," the Council says, "fourteen persons dead from accidents would now be living, about 1,500 would have escaped painful injury and the loss of nearly $475,000 would have been averted."

Nearly 60 per cent of the deaths, it is revealed, occurred within the Mansfield municipal health district, 15 per cent in the Shelby municipal health district, and the remainder over other areas in the county.

Hope is expressed that city and county communities will provide leadership to mobilize forces to bring about a reduction of the chief causes of accidents—thus restoring Richland county to a creditable position among Ohio counties, after having dropped from 21st place in 1944 to 46th place in 1945.

Peaches Plentiful, Canning Urged

A BIT of cheerful news, in the midst of shortages, is that this year's peach crop is to be "the second largest on record," and that the United States department of agriculture is appealing to homemakers, school lunch canning projects, restaurants and local institutions to help consume and preserve peaches.

The only thing, apparently, that might stand in the way of full co-operation with this reasonable request is the possibility that producers and distributors may follow the trend toward higher prices —despite adequate supply—and boost the price of peaches to a point that would discourage home canners. If this can be avoided there will probably be a ready response to the canning suggestion, as peaches are sweeter than many fruits, require less sugar, are easy to can, and retain a delicious flavor.

It should also be taken into account that there will be a shortage of commercially canned fruits this year, and that canning their own peaches will be a fine way for families to be assured of a supply for next winter.

Nazis Awaiting End of Occupation

THE AMERICAN military governor of Germany, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, recently told 12 visiting American newspaper executives that a long occupation of the reich was necessary to avoid a re-birth of Nazism. The general said he believed that if all controls were lifted, the German people would revert to some form of the old Nazi government.

It's well for such statements to be pondered by people in the United States. It seems easy for Americans, absorbed with the present confusion of peace-time living, to forget all about the chaos still existing in Germany.

Word comes that California's Mount Wilson is for sale—but probably at a peak price.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

Pest From California Discovered In Idaho.

BURLEY, Idaho—You wouldn't think such a little criminal could cause such a commotion.

It was just a week ago Sunday that the suspect first was spotted here, hiding in a shipment of potatoes said to have come from California.

The worker who first spotted him rapidly reported his suspicions. Federal photographs were checked. It was true—and within a matter of hours the alarm was spread.

State headquarters at Boise were alerted. Word flashed on to Washington. Newspaper and radio descriptions were sent out. State and federal sleuths rushed to Burley.

Meanwhile, people from all walks of life—farmers, ranchers, bankers, gardeners, businessmen, truckers—all joined in the search. Weapons were issued and private airplanes mobilized.

And the biggest bug-hunt in western history was underway!

That's right—bug-hunt. Cause of the state-wide alarm was a little varmint no bigger than a paring off your fingernail. About a quarter of an inch long with a wingspread of perhaps half an inch at best, the grayish-brown criminal with mottled dark spots on his back is known as the potato tuberworm moth.

And he's worth approximately thirty-five million dollars to Idaho—dead, that is!

Of course, that price includes the demise of all of his relatives, too, for the tuberworm moth is a very prolific cuss. He (or she, if you must be technical) lays eggs all over the place, not only on potatoes and the leaves of potato plants, but also in gardens, trash piles and almost any old corner that's handy.

Without going too deeply into the varmint's vagaries, it can be stated that his (or her) eggs hatch little greenish or pinkish-white caterpillars which are never satisfied until they chew their way into a spud and settle down to light housekeeping.

By the time they, in turn, become moths, there's practically nothing left of the potato.

To further clarify the case, it should be explained that there are enough citizens raising potatoes up and down Idaho's Snake River Valley to bring in the aforementioned thirty-five million iron men per annum—which is a lot of doubloons, even during inflation!

Normally, the tuberworm doesn't work this far north in the inland states, sticking chiefly to the south and the warmer coastal sectors. However, Idaho's previous immunity now is questioned since this is an especially hot, dry season—conditions under which the tuberworm thrives.

Since Burley is more or less the center of the state's potato industry, there are dehydration and potato flour plants here. Hence, culls sometimes come from outside for such processing.

"It was in a shipment of culls from California that the tuberworm moth slipped in" said Glen Bodily, Cassia county agent whose office is serving as headquarters for the fight.

And it is a fight. This year's crop is not particularly threatened. But should the insect adopt Idaho for future operations, next year's crop literally would be riddled.

Hence, every inch of ground near the area where the moth first was found is being sprayed with DDT.

Bitter Burley residents, busy with gun and spray, remind you that California the state which contributed this potato enemy No. One—even inspects the personal baggage of incoming tourists to keep similar pests out of its crops.

Dave Boone Says:

THE NEW YORK Telephone company is ready to put phone service in your automobile for $22 a month, which, if people continue as talky as usual, should mean fairly cheap gas.

* * *

Anyhow, the gas you get in the front of the car won't cost any more than what you get in the back.

* * *

It's another engineering wonder, but I look for a lot more accidents when a driver has to keep his foot on the accelerator, his hands on the steering wheel, his eyes on two more gadgets and his ears at the telephone.

* * *

And it seems to me it won't serve to make a man a cooler operator when, struggling through traffic on a hot day, he finds that in addition to his other troubles he is wanted on the wire.

Talmadge Is Student of Hitler Methods; Seeks to Abolish Primaries In Georgia.

ATLANTA — The most Hitleresque governor since Huey Long is back in power in Georgia.

Ole Gene Talmadge, for three terms virtual dictator of Georgia, is now in the saddle again, looking a little thinner, a little older, but still snapping his red galluses, still able to grandstand his way into the hearts of the rural voters.

He has come back to power with all the earmarks of a Hitlerian victory. In fact, the Georgia election, carefully examined, looks like the most alarming political development in the nation.

In the first place, Talmadge, like Hitler, was elected by a minority of the voters. His opponent, James Carmichael, rolled up a clear majority, but under Georgia's peculiar unit rule, Talmadge won.

Like Hitler also, Talmadge has a great radio technique. Carmichael had none. A total of 125 Georgia newspapers were against Talmadge, while only seven were for him. But his radio appeal won out in the end.

Big Business Backed Talmadge.

And just as big business in Germany put up the money to finance Hitler, so the Georgia Power company and big business generally backed Talmadge. Worried over the CIO drive to organize the South, they knew Talmadge would be anti-labor, keep down taxes, play ball with big business. As governor before, he had put textile strikers behind a barbed-wire concentration camp and if necessary they expect him to do it again.

Now that they have elected their "cracker dictator" however, some businessmen are already worried for fear they have a bear by the tail. Perhaps they remember how the Thyssens and the Von Schroeders and other German industrialists were kicked out by Hitler shortly after they had financed his way to power.

Finally — and also like Hitler—Talmadge won on the race issue with the help of the revived Ku Klux Klan.

It was the Klan's biggest political victory.

Talmadge Merry-Go-Round.

Talmadge boasts of having read "Mein Kampf" seven times.

He makes no secret of being a student of Hitlerian methods. During his previous "reigns" as governor, Talmadge called out the militia 17 different times. For a while no one could get into the highway department without a military pass. Talmadge's chief use of the militia was to oust elected officials.

It made no difference that the State Treasurer had been duly elected by the people of Georgia, Talmadge called out the military and forcibly evicted him from office. When the treasurer locked the vault where state money was kept, Talmadge blew the door off the vault . . . For a while Talmadge spent the state's funds on a cash basis, with no record of expenditures. He employed an ex-racketeer to inspect the books of the universities and if he didn't like them, they were burned . . . Talmadge has promised to run Georgia just the way he did before. Those who know him say he is ruthless enough to do it.

Georgia Fascism.

Greatest Hitlerian threat to Georgia's future political system is Talmadge's new plan for abolishing state primaries. Most people haven't examined this scheme carefully. On the surface, many are inclined to welcome it as a move to take the vote away from the Negro.

The governor-elect's plan is to get around the Supreme Court edict that Negroes have a right to vote in Democratic primaries. To do this he proposes abolishing the state primary.

Instead of a primary vote supervised and policed by the state, Talmadge plans to run a private primary policed by his own political organization.

In other words, the Democratic party would became a private club —in this case, the Talmadge club. He would name his own state Democratic executive committee. It would make all the rules governing elections, would specify who was qualified to vote, could abolish all criminal laws governing elections, do away with all rules against fraud.

There would be no control over the ballot boxes, over the counting of the votes, or anything else —except the control laid down by Gene Talmadge. Under such a plan the new governor of Georgia plans to have "free" elections.

In other words, like Hitler, once Talmadge gets into power no opposition party could ever stop him. No better pattern for fascism ever was devised in the USA.

Already Harman Talmadge, the governor's son, is preparing to run either for the U. S. senate or to succeed his father.

And yet Talmadge is elected to office, by a minority vote!

No wonder a lot of people around Atlanta are wearing long faces, wondering when the new governor will start retaliating against his enemies.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, July 24, 1926.

Announcement was made by Benjamin L. Loeb of the sale of Loeb store, 80 North Main street.

Friends surprised Jacob Sheriff, 56 East First street, on his 67th birthday anniversary. (So this is his birthday again.)

Miss Harriet Hale and James A. Willard were married at St Luke's Lutheran church by Rev. H. S. Garnes.

Garfield Houston moved from 14 Swanger avenue to Sloan avenue.

Joseph T. Pearl, 23, died at his home, 161 Lexington avenue.

John Perrine, 230 Park avenue east, was injured when struck by a pitched ball during a game at Davey field.

Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Downs, 244 West Fifth street.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles G. Brown and son left for the east to visit Guernsey cattle farms.

TODAY IN HISTORY

French novelist Alexander Dumas the Elder was born on July 24, 1704. Among his works are the well-known volumes "The Three Musketeers" and "The Count of Monte Cristo."

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

WE HAVE a very polite note from Mrs. Sun Yat Sen reading "thank you so much for the guns but you're overdoing it."

* * *

This is our first invitation to withdraw from the internal affairs of a nation but we still have quite a few invitations to intervene. Any one of them should pay off as well as our good intentions in China.

* * *

Who would ever think that in such a short time Sun Yat Sen's widow would be repeating, for a different reason, the advice which Tokyo originally gave Washington. . . Stay out of China."

* * *

But there is this much about it. . . . If we do withdraw from China there are other places we can go and be just as unwelcome in six months.

Various Causes of "Habitual Fatigue."

THERE is nothing like habitual fatigue to take the joy out of life. With energy for even the simplest tasks lacking, there is no zest for work, no pleasure in recreation.

This feeling of being always at the end of your rope may come from many different causes. It may be a simple case of working too long and sleeping too little. It may result from a dietary deficiency.

Sometimes, so-called neurasthenia or nerve exhaustion may be responsible. In a number of instances, the cause of overtiredness is found in a lessened amount of sugar in the blood.

Low Blood Sugar.

Drs. Samuel C. Karlan and Clarence Cohn of the medical corps of the United States army made a study of 100 patients who were suffering from fatigue, and in nine of these the symptoms were caused by a low blood sugar or hypoglycemia.

The main complaints were fatigue and dizziness. The fatigue from which these patients with hypoglycemia suffered was not continuous but occurred at definite times such as on getting up in the morning or several hours after eating. One of the patients had headache and pain in the chest every morning before eating.

All of the patients complained of dizzy spells of varying degree, and in a few there were fainting attacks. It was interesting to note that most of the patients also ate frequently because they were hungry and the condition of all of them improved after eating. Exercise, in practically all of the cases, made the symptoms worse.

Use of Atropine.

It has been reported that persons with hypoglycemia may be benefited by the use of the drug known as atropine, taken under the physician's directions. However, several of the patients, when given this preparation three times a day for seven days, reported no improvement: In fact, in one it was reported that the condition became worse.

Patients with low blood sugar fortunately can be benefited by giving them diets rich in protein foods such as meat, milk, eggs and fish, as well as plenty of starches. Some of the protein is changed into sugar in the body.

Timely Editorial

Summer Sun Can Kill.

Too much exposure to sunlight to get a "nice tan" is a very dangerous thing. The ultraviolet rays of the sun, if not absorbed by clothing or some harmless ointment, directly impede the production of blood cells in the bone marrows, with resulting anemia and its many possible complications.

Medical science has long and vigorously condemned the practice of placing tuberculous patients, in near nakedness, in direct sunlight for prolonged periods. A half-century ago, thousands of such patients, who might have recovered, were killed by this kind of treatment in Arizona and California. They did not know that the sun, the great life-giver, can also be the great killer.

If you feel that your social status depends on having a complexion like that of an Indian, use some kind of harmless skin paint. Don't use sunlight.—Detroit News.

Great Expectations.

The most optimistic fellow to turn up in months is the man who attended a forum on housing problems in the hope that one of the authorities speaking on the subject could tell him where to find a house.—Kansas City Star.

Reactionary Forces Dominate In Georgia.

ATLANTA — The pity for the South and the nation of the Gene Talmadge victory is that it encouraged and emboldened the forces of reaction and prejudice that were beginning to recede, especially coming on top of Senator Bilbo's victory in Mississippi.

The Georgia election, though a local contest for governor, was watched all over the country as a key election on the racial and economic issues, just as the recent primaries in Minnesota and Montana were observed for clues on the international co-operation issue.

Progress won in Minnesota and Montana, while the trend in the two southern elections was backward, at least as of now.

The immediate effects of the Bilbo-Talmadge victories, it seems are:

1. To stiffen the resistance of the big and yet unorganized southern industrialists to the current organizing drive of CIO and AFL, for both Senator Bilbo and Gene Talmadge are vigorously anti-labor, particularly anti-CIO. (In Georgia these interests poured considerable money into the Talmadge campaign, and had their smartest political minds at work.)

2. To stimulate, at least temporarily, the revived Ku Klux Klan in Georgia and the southeast, which was beginning to wither away under the blows of Gov. Ellis Arnall and the federal government. Gene Talmadge was the Klan candidate.

3. To encourage the southern-conservative, die-hard bloc in congress in its hitherto successful campaign against federal anti-poll tax legislation and their coalition with Republicans on economic and social legislation needed more in the south than anywhere else.

However, the situation in the South is not so dark for progressivism as the Bilbo-Talmadge victories might indicate at first glance. A deeper analysis reveals hopeful factors at work, even in the Georgia election, that eventually will assert themselves despite the Bilbos and the Talmadges. Politicians might do well to consider them.

For example, Senator Bilbo barely won over his combined opposition in Mississippi and just escaped a run-off which might have proved disastrous.

Gene Talmadge was a minority winner. His chief oponent, James V. Carmichael, who was backed by Governor Arnall, ran nearly 9,000 votes ahead of him in popular votes, getting the biggest vote ever polled by a gubernatorial candidate in Georgia, 314,421 to Talmadge's 305,759. He was defeated by the antique county unit system, peculiar to Georgia.

The combined vote against Talmadge was nearly 4 to 3. It was 396,01 to 305,777 counting in the votes of the other two candidates. One of them, ex-Governor Rivers, drew enough support from Carmichael in a number of counties to throw their unit vote to Gene Talmadge and elect him.

But there were other encouraging signs.

The Labor and Negro vote were factors in three congressional contests. It was labor votes that defeated the veteran Rep. Tarver in the seventh district where the CIO recently has got a foothold in industries.

So new forces did assert themselves in Georgia in this election in the Labor and Negro vote. Gene Talmadge has announced that he intends to restore the "white primary" despite the edict of the Supreme Court against it. That would eliminate the Negro vote which almost defeated him.

Ask Another Labor-Management Confab.

WASHINGTON — Last fall, President Truman called a labor-management conference. About all that it produced was words—heated words, angry words. Now a group of Americans of widely differing interests have asked the president to call another labor-management conference.

These men and women, all of whom might be classed as liberals, are appealing to the president because they believe a new labor crisis is just around the corner. And, what is more, they fear that another contest on the slugging-it-out level, with final intervention by the government, would seriously endanger our democracy.

Many in the group have helped to work out an orderly system of collective bargaining in this country. Men such as Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, and Morris L. Cooke, the industrial engineer, have been active participants in the evolutionary process intended to put labor relations on a stable, democratic basis. Others, such as Stuart Chase, the writer, have long championed a free, independent trade-union government.

But now they see a dangerous drift toward absolute control by law of the whole process of collective bargaining. What they say is so significant that it should make every member of a trade union and every employer stop, look, and listen:

"Some unions and some employers have failed to see recent industrial conditions accurately, and to assess accurately their new position in the community and in the nation. When labor was only meagerly organized, and principally on a local basis, a strike was not a community or a national calamity. But with 15,000,000 organized workers in every basic industry and also in raw materials industry, a strike can quickly become a national disaster.

There is something morally repugnant when a handful of a few hundred thousand workmen or a few employers can threaten starvation to a great city, or paralysis to a national industry. Only a momentous issue, and not a few cents difference in hourly pay, could justify the use of such a weapon.

"On the other hand, to seek to regulate the conduct of a great segment of the nation by legislation, when that legislation is distorted largely by hostile lawmakers, is a futile way to get conformance. This is more evident when nothing is being done to curb the strikes of management — the refusal of makers of men's suits to put goods on the market, or the refusal of corporations to accept arbitration or impartial adjudication without an assurance of higher prices. It is not just to seek to regulate labor by law without in turn regulating management by law."

As a cardinal necessity for successful collective bargaining, the appeal addressed to the president stresses "well-tried team play between labor, management and other economic groups." Instead, they say: "Class warfare is being substituted for team play."

The question in the minds of many thoughtful men who could by no means be called labor-baiters is: How far do the unions intend to go in organizing and controlling the life of this nation?

Within the CIO, left-wingers would like to go to town with new wage demands and new strikes. But more conservative leaders, including Philip Murray himself, are reluctant. The United Auto Workers suffered severe losses, both collectively and individually, in the 113-day General Motors strike. Sentiment in the AFL is overwhelmingly against another struggle.

Farmer's Diary: "Views of Home."

IT IS an interesting thing to study objects from different angles. From our cottage window, I look upon the red gable of our barn, with the thrifty plum tree, and the shrubs of honeysuckle . . . and "There's our barn," I think, content with the familiar view.

Yet, when I have walked across our narrow valley and stood upon the hillcrest in our neighbor's pasture, things do not look the same, and I say in a half whisper, "Is that our home?"

When just a boy, I remember feeling so. The old log house where I was born—the summer-house in which the old bakeoven was built, where many of our meals were served when the weather was not too cold—had a mammoth chimney of stone.

In that spacious cavern two large copper kettles hung at applebutter boiling time, and on butchering day. This equipment made the low-built structure seem immense to childish eyes. And moreover, it was home, and so was not lacking, in anything.

Then one day, we drove eastward up narrow mountain roads, in the farm wagon to pick huckleberries. When we tied the team, in a grassy cove at the base of a steep stony ridge, my three brothers and I climbed out and stood to look. I was the youngest.

Every day, from our bedroom window, we had seen this ridge—over which the sun came up. Now we had reversed the position . . . and our neighbor's dwellings and our own, seemed so very drab and homely and small that the end of one tiny finger could have shut from sight any clustering group. It brought dismay, at first, to a young lad's mind.

To read the time of day, by the sun, in our own valley, is not a difficult task. But to do the same in a strange location demands keener judgment and wiser reckoning of shadows.

I saw an old man, stooped and worn from heavy labor, keen in experience for the many years he lived, and wise as hardship will produce—a rare and useful soul. But I did not feel this until I came within his presence and heard his voice, and his eyes met mine. Then I was humble, disturbed and yet happy. Here was human greatness clothed in peasant garb.

Milk Will Keep With Proper Care

Even in this hot weather, you can expect milk to stay sweet for seven days or more—if you take proper care of it in the home. So say dairy technologists of Ohio State university after a scientific study in which they followed three simple rules.

All three of the rules hinge on refrigeration. Homemakers following them will reduce waste and cut food costs. At the same time they will help spread the supply of this nutritious food for which demand is so high.

First of the three easy-to-follow rules is to put the milk in the refrigerator as soon as the milkman leaves it on the doorstep, or as soon as you get it home from the store. Second, keep milk in the coldest part of the refrigerator where the temperature is below 45 degrees F., preferably at 40 degrees. Third, after pouring out milk as needed, return the rest to the refrigerator at once.

In their study, the technologists examined the keeping quality of 184 quart and half pint bottles of milk from five milk plants. All of the milk was placed in the refrigerator as soon as received. Half pints placed right under the freezing unit, where the temperature averaged 40 degrees, kept for an average of three weeks.

Because the quarts wouldn't fit under the freezing unit, they were placed on side shelves. Also they were removed from the refrigerator for five minutes or so daily, as is necessary in home use of milk. Even so, the milk in the quart bottles kept for an average of 12 days.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — The government has more than 2,000,000 single false rear teeth that the War Assets Administration has declared surplus. They were made under a lend lease contract for shipment, mostly to Russia.

It looks as if the government bit off more than it could chew, because the teeth never were sent. And they're chattering around in government storerooms waiting for someone to buy them.

The government had loads of other false teeth too. But those were attached and in sets. They were grabbed up by the Veterans' Administration for use in government hospitals.

On the other hand, WAA had no trouble getting rid of a human skull, declared surplus by the Quartermaster Corps at Camp Sibert, Ala. It had been used by Army dental technicians and cost the government $15.

The Atlanta Regional office of WAA posted it for sale:

"One adult human skull, slightly used, but in good condition, for only $8.25."

AMERICAN ingenuity has found new uses for many strange items offered for sale as government-owned surplus to civilians.

Chester Chinn, Chinese-American war veteran of Portland, Ore., wanted a noodle machine. There was none in surplus. Chinn picked up surplus rollers, knives and other doo-dads, fashioned his own machine. He goes to Reed College in the daytime, makes noodles for grocers at night.

A Texas farmer bought a portable flame thrower to use in clearing underbrush from his land.

Nylon material, left over from aviation "black-out" suits, is being reconverted into women's dress shields

B-24 pilot seats are being used on a fishing boat where their low-slung contours will be ideal.

Four hundred small engines ready for scrap were salvaged by a lawn mower manufacturer—to make father's life more pleasant in the evenings.

THE GOVERNMENT has made it easy, it says, for the veteran and small business man to buy aircraft. A veteran is allowed the lowest price charged any trade level.

Many veterans have started unusual airplane services . . . delivering mail for the Indian Service . . . dropping food during heavy snows . . . hunting coyotes . . . counting wild game . . . mineral prospecting . . . patrolling fences . . . ambulance services.

A group of former Flying Tigers with 14 surplus cargo planes, operating on a nation-wide basis, is flying such things as Kosher meat from the midwest to New York, flowers from California to New York, women's clothes from New York to Kansas City, and so forth.

Some former Army pilots have acquired their own airport at Pinehurst, N. C. Among other services they are flying golfers to and from Pinehurst, and vacationers to resorts in the Carolinas.

An ex-fighter pilot is using surplus Navy training planes for mosquito and pest control on Long Island.

A strip of cloth or tape sewed just inside the edge takes the brunt of wear off trouser cuffs.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 25.

THE MOST auspicious augurnes are noted at this time, giving quickened energies, sound, constructive ideas and unflagging endeavors in the direction of achieving the most cherished hopes, wishes and ambitions, whether these pertain to personal or business life. Those in high places are co-operative financially and with encouragement, impressed by sound and progressive programs, born of practical and efficient techniques.

Large achievements are indicated perhaps where developments surprise by their magnitude. Nevertheless some caution would not be amiss, as over-confidence or overreaching might "upset the apple cart. Relax and reflect.

Those whose birthday it is find themselves confronted by a year of dramatic possibilities for attaining the land of heart's desire, with lofty goals and achievements within grasp. This with sound study of underlying factors, wise and astute methods and tactics, largely directed at the co-operation and financial support of those in powerful productive places.

Such must be impressed by constructive and workable plans and advanced objectives, well-organized and demonstrated. But pause for reflection to get proper perspective on the prospects for such startling and long-range adventures, in which there might be romantic and thrilling side issues.

A child born on this day is equipped for large and important objectives in life, in which there might be much happiness, progress and sensational performance.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

The Pythian Sister picnic which was to be held this Friday evening, July 26, at South park is postponed until some future date.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

You Can't print that—So many things besides manicures happen in beauty parlors.

Out in Hollywood, several years ago, the wife of a very important motion picture studio head—let's call her Mrs. Premiere—was having her nails done in the patio of a hairdressing salon when she turned to see a beautiful blond girl sitting near by weeping bitterly. Mrs. Premiere is a kind-hearted, sympathetic type for all her wealth and social position and power, so she said to her operator:

"Find out what that girl is crying about."

Well, it turned out the lovely blond was the wife of a stock contract player whose contract had just been dropped. They had no money saved, they were expecting a baby, and they didn't know what they were going to do now that the career upon which they had pinned so much hope had folded.

By one of those coincidences that seem to have been fashioned by a lazy script writer, it developed that the studio which had just dropped the young blond's husband was the one headed by Mrs. Premiere's husband. And at dinner that night Mrs. Premiere said to the tycoon:

"You just dropped Chadwick Blayne, didn't you?"

"Who's that?" asked Mr. Premiere with a blank look. Mrs. Premiere said:

"I guess he's so unimportant you wouldn't know, but what's a hundred dollars a week to you?" and she told him the story of the girl in the beauty parlor. Her charm and eloquence won her husband's sympathy and the next day he put Chadwick Blayne back on the payroll and forgot about him.

Some months after that Chaddick Blayne was borrowed by another studio for a small part in an epic picture, and when it was released he was a picture chick. He became a star soon after that, and shuttled between the Premiere studio and the one that had discovered his talent. One of his pictures is probably playing at your neighborhood theater right now.

Just a few weeks ago Mrs. Premiere was in her husband's outer office waiting for him to take her to lunch, when the unknowing object of her benefaction appeared in a blaze of glamor.

"I want to see Mr. Premiere immediately," he announced

The secretary said: "I'm very sorry, he's tied up now. You'll have to wait."

"Wait!" screamed Chadwick Blayne. "Doesn't that jerk realize I'm the most important star on this lot?" And he added a string of phrases unsuitable for reproduction in a family gazette.

Mrs. Premiere, who had never seen Blayne in the flesh until the moment, gathered up her stone martens, told the secretary "I'll meet Mr. Premiere in the commissary," and swept out.

She never told her husband the story, but she smiles now every time she reads a movie magazine article about the lad she aided. Right now, he is very condessendingly "permitting" his beautiful wife to try a fling at the movies. So Mrs. Premiere assumes he's never guessed that if it had not been for his wife's heart-rending tears in the beauty parlor several years ago, he'd probably be greasing cars in a Wiltshire blvd. gas station this very minute.

But you can't print that.

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

The good old summer time, 'neath the shade of the old apple tree, may be a picnic. But life in the city as summer simmers on is a shade different. Ho hum, let's be nonchalant and talk about a way to look as fresh as a dewey gardenia, even in a heat wave. Some of Eve's daughters manage to . . . there are ways.

Cleanliness is next to coolness. But when you take a shower, have the water tepid, not tingling cold. A cold shower feels as cool as a plunge in a pool, but the secondary reaction is heating By the time you're dressed, you're dripping.

Also, in taking a tub bath, avoid getting all steamed up. Let the cold water in first, almost up to the level desired. Done that way, the temperature of the room is not made unbearable. Dry thoroughly before sprinkling on bath powder.

There is no use in blinking, even frequent bathing doesn't do away with the necessity of using an underarm deodorant. And there are such nice creamy, non-irritating ones on the market. Anyone who perspires freely can use one that stops perspiration. They are absolutely safe.

Foot powder is wonderful in summer, so sprinkle a little in your shoes There are soaps on the market to help keep your feet happy in hot weather. Ask your druggist about them.

Perfume should never be applied with a fire hose, but particularly not in warm weather. Chic women use flower cologne and light perfume, never heavy, sultry perfume in summer. Cologne on hands and wrists is cooling . . . try this before slipping on a pair of fresh white gloves. Carry along a spare handkerchief.

And use a fresh powder puff each day for there is more oil in the skin in summer. Those refreshing and cooling complexion pads come in handy when you get an unexpected invitation out to dinner. Don't go heavy on the make-up. That caked look is not cooling.

Strive to look uncluttered. No trailing veils, chunky jewelry, bracelets, or heavy mascara. The girls who go in for accessories as usual in sultry weather are dripping, but not with glamour.

THE VISITOR

Say intuition if you will,
But follow mother's guidance still.
—Old Mother Nature.

"Listen!" exclaimed Peter Rabbit. His long ears stood straight up.

"Listen!" exclaimed little Mrs. Peter, and her long ears stood straight up.

"What did you hear?" whispered Peter.

"Some dry leaves rustled," replied Mrs. Peter, still whispering.

"That is what I heard," whispered Peter. "Some one is in the dear Old Briar-patch, some one on the ground where the dry leaves are."

"It could be Chewink the Towhee," whispered Mrs. Peter. "He loves to scratch among the leaves on the ground."

"It wasn't that kind of a rustle," replied Peter. His ears still stood straight up and his eyes were very wide open. He was looking as well as listening. "We often hear Chewink scratching among the leaves. This was a different sound. Perhaps we have a visitor," he added.

Who?" asked Mrs. Peter, looking startled.

"I don't know, but I am going to find out," replied Peter, preparing to follow one of his private little paths in the direction from which that rustling had seemed to come.

Mrs. Peter stopped him. "Listen!" said she under her breath. "Whoever it is, is coming this way!"

The rustle of a dry leaf sounded nearer. They heard it for only an instant. When they heard it again it was still nearer. The next time they heard a sound it was still a rustle but not the same kind of a rustle. It wasn't the rustle of dry leaves and it didn't come to them along the ground. It came to them from up in a greenbriar tangle as if some one was climbing up in there where it seemed that no one could climb.

Peter and Mrs. looked at each other in wide-eyed dismay. Brownie the Thrasher and Mrs. Brownie had a nest there. Then Mrs. Peter remembered something. "They are not there. They flew this very morning," she whispered. She meant the young Thrashers.

There was a sound very like a hiss. Perhaps it was a hiss of disappointment. They heard some one leaving the tangle, then the rustling sound on the ground. A moment later Mr. Blacksnake appeared in the path. When he saw them he stopped, raised his head, stared at them with unblinking eyes, darted his tongue out at them. Some folks call that his stinger and think he stings with it. It isn't a stinger for no Snake stings. It is a harmless and very wonderful tongue, for with it he hears, so to speak. Snakes have no outside ears. Sound is made by what are called vibrations in the air and ears pick up these vibrations. A Snake's tongue feels them in much the same manner. That is why Mr. Snake is continually darting his tongue out.

"Who owns the dear Old Briar-patch? Not you, Peter Rabbit. Not you," hissed Mr. Blacksnake.

"I find I'm too late. There were young in that nest back there not long ago," hissed Mr. Blacksnake, looking at Peter and Mrs. Peter as if he thought it was their fault that there were no young Thrashers there now.

"They have flown. I am glad," declared Mrs. Peter.

"Perhaps there are other babies somewhere here. I'll have a look around," hissed Mr. Blacksnake. "There are other babies quite as good eating as baby birds," he added slyly.

Peter stamped angrily. "Get out of the dear Old Briar-patch. We don't want you around here. Get out!" he commanded.

"Who owns the dear Old Briar-patch? Not you, Peter Rabbit. Not you," hissed Mr. Blacksnake. "You may think you do, but you don't. And don't think you can drive me out, because you can't. You wouldn't have any babies here, would you? I'll just look around."

Mrs. Peter looked at Peter as much as to say "What did I tell you?" Peter looked another way. At that moment he had to admit to himself how right and wise Mrs. Peter had been not to have the nursery for those babies in the dear Old Briar-patch.

Mr. Blacksnake slowly glided along all Peter's private little paths looking into all the likely places for a hidden nest of baby Rabbits. Of course he didn't find one, for there was none there.

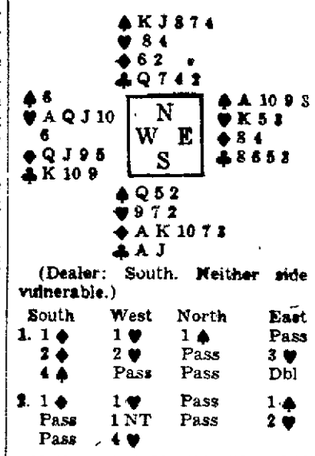
Barclay On Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Your response with a suit bid of one to your partner's lower-ranking suit bid can ordinarily be on a fairly weak hand, because of very simple logic. The purpose is to give your partner another chance to bid if he has a powerhouse just short of an original game-demand bid of two. But you don't have to strain in his behalf if the intervening opponent has overcalled him. The opponent has guaranteed your partner another chance. So then you can afford to pass unless you have at least a moderate amount of strength, for your bid in that situation is a "free bid," made of your own will and accord, to show real values.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1 ♦	1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♥
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl
2. 1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

Notice what North's "free bid" of 1-Spade did to his aggressive partner at Tazle 1 on this duplicate deal. South read it quite properly as showing at least a half a trick more strength than North actually possessed, as there was no need for North merely to "keep it open." Even at that, it might have been sounder for South to bid only 3-Spades on his third turn, and North would naturally have gone no farther.

At the other table, after North failed to overcall West on his first turn, South properly retired into his shell and had nothing further to say. As a consequence, West felt extra strong after East showed a belated fit for the hearts, a three-card fit, since he bid something else on his first turn instead of supporting the major. Three cards were enough for West's suit, however, and he blithely skipped into game. North got set two tricks in his doubled spade game, and West was down one in his undoubled 4-Hearts—a total swing of 350 points.

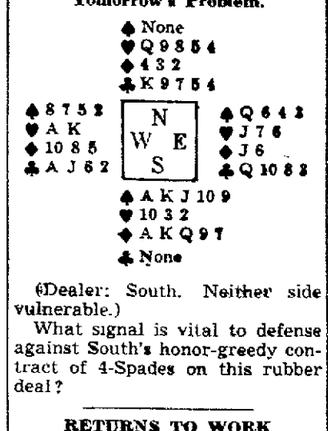
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What signal is vital to defense against South's honor-greedy contract of 4-Spades on this rubber deal?

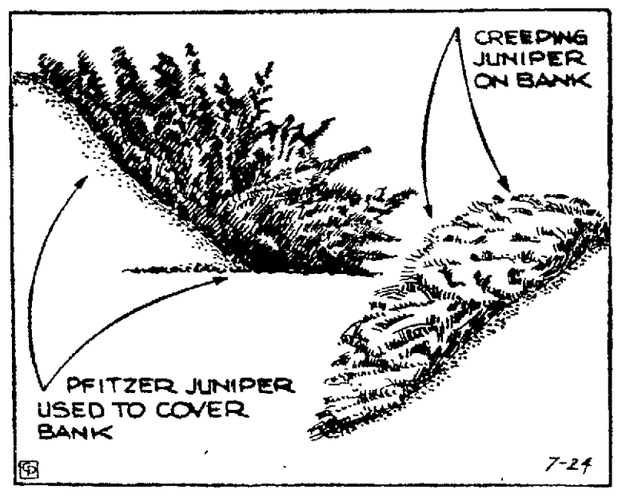
Today's Garden-Graph



Low-Growing Evergreens for Banking Purposes

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Some suburban gardeners are plagued by a slope or bank at the end of their garden—often back of the garage—on which it is impossible to maintain grass because of cutting difficulties. It is often an area in which one prefers not to make into a rock garden. But what to do?

The answer is to plant the bank with low-growing evergreens. Such plants will hold the bank, grow with a minimum of care, and provide a rich, green background.

Among the evergreens which have the low-to-the ground habit of growth are Taxus cuspidata, Pfitzer juniper and the creeping juniper. The use of the latter two types for bank plantings is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. These plants will cover a great deal of space and are easily cared for.

If you have a planting problem requiring the use of low-growing evergreens and wish to get at it this fall, remember that they can be set out from late August into October.

August planting of evergreens is not always advisable, however, unless there are abundant rains or plenty of water is available. Very late fall planting also is not always advisable.

Mulching of newly planted evergreens will be found to be of great benefit, especially for those set on a slope or bank. During the winter the mulch prevents alternate freezing and thawing around and above the upper roots of the evergreens, and during the summer it conserves moisture and keeps the soil considerably coler than when it is exposed fully to the direct heat of the sun.

Eskimos are said to bury a dog with a dead child, in the belief that the dog may guide the child in another world.

MANSFIELD FIRM BIDS TO REPAIR ASHLAND ROADS

State Routes 3, 39 and 60 Are Among Highway Projects.

Mansfield Asphalt Paving company has submitted a bid of $27,135 to the state highway department for the resurfacing of 1.151 miles of state routes 3, 39, and 60 in Ashland county.

The bid was one of 18 opened Tuesday as the department got underway with a $2,296,822 road improvement program. The state's estimate of the cost of the Ashland county project was $27,140.

Improvement of 6.882 miles of the Columbus-Wooster road in Delaware county is included in the program. A. J. Baltes, of Norwalk, submitted a bid of $721,360 for the project, estimated by the state to cost $746,600. Construction of two bridges, one over Big Walnut creek and one over Perfect creek, is included in the bid.

May Use Rocket As Forecaster

LONDON—(U.P.)—A jet-propelled rocket which will climb 11½ miles and transmit weather information automatically by radio is now on the drawing boards of the British Inter-Planetary society.

Researcher Lionel Gilbert said the society hopes to launch the first rocket within a few months. He expected that later development will enable the rockets to climb 100 miles.

"It's really an adaption of the 'radio-sonde' type of instrument now used with balloons by meterological stations," Gilbert said.

"The rockets will return by parachute, since there is only a one-mile drift from a 40-mile altitude in a 20-mile wind and the rockets can be recovered."

The first rocket will be propelled by a jet with a fuel or liquid oxygen mixed with kerosene. The rocket will be six and one-half feet long and will be controlled by a gyroscope.

Studebaker Men Hear Lectures

Studebaker service men of the Mansfield area held their first technical meeting on the company's new postwar automobiles in the Mansfield-Leland hotel where films and transcribed lectures were presented by H. B. Abbott, branch service representative.

W. P. Hendershot, district manager, presided over the sessions.

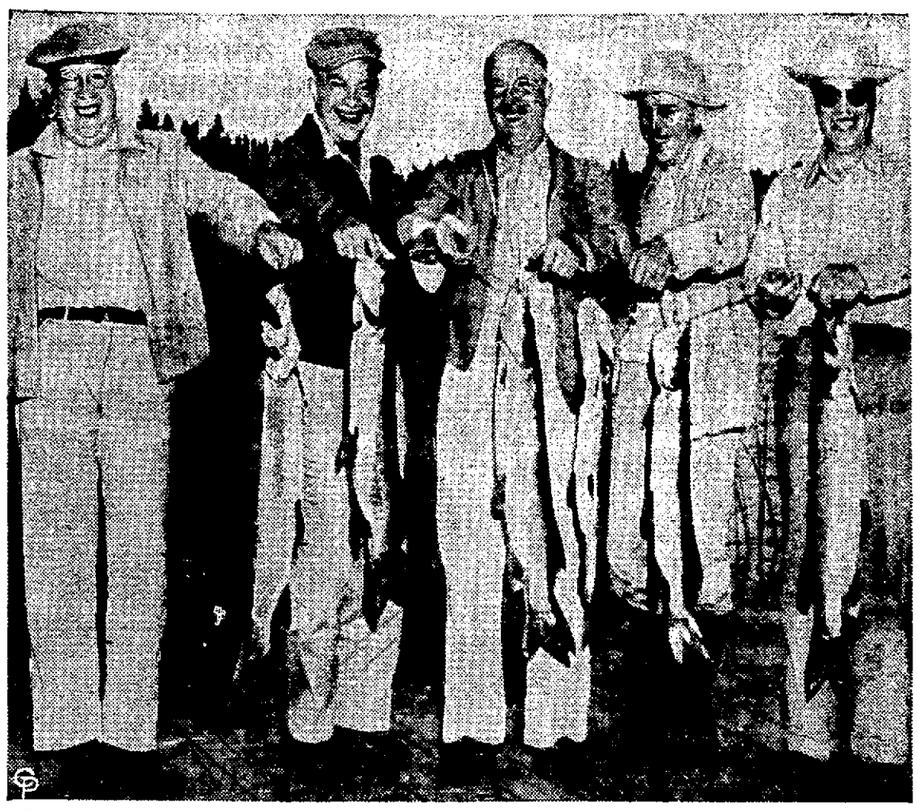
Ike and Brothers Show Off Catches



Enjoying their first vacation together since 1926, the five Eisenhower brothers happily hold up their limit catch of 10 to 17 pound muskies, plus an 8-pound northern pike, at Minocqua, Wis. The fish were caught in the famed Lac du Flambeau waters. Left to right are: Arthur, of Kansas; "Ike," U. S. Chief of Staff; Edgar, of Tacoma, Wash.; Milton, of Manhattan, Kan.; and Earl, of Charleroi, Pa.
